Contents

Fundamental theology and comparative religious studies: analytical, hermeneutic, and pragmatic approaches to the foundations of Christian faith with attention to philosophy and other religious concepts. Dogmatics: systematic study of Christian beliefs of different denominations. Development of the students’ ability to reflect upon religious frameworks of interpretation and Christian faith in the contemporary world, express traditional beliefs in a language understood in today’s world, and develop appropriate solutions to topical problems.

Intended learning outcomes

In the area of fundamental theology and comparative religious studies, students will have become familiar with analytical, hermeneutic, and pragmatic approaches to the foundations of Christian faith with attention to philosophy and other religious concepts. In the area of dogmatics, students will be able to study Christian beliefs of different denominations in a systematic manner. They will have developed the ability to reflect upon religious frameworks of interpretation and Christian faith in the contemporary world, express traditional beliefs in a language understood in today’s world, and develop appropriate solutions to topical problems.
