Contents
Experiments to characterize pathogens and their pathogenic properties are carried out. The internship includes, among other things, methods for identifying bacterial pathogens, physiological tests, biochemical detection assays and molecular methods. Furthermore, the genetic causes of antibiotic resistance are determined and gene regulation mechanisms investigated. Methods for determining the human microbiome are learned and working with databases is practiced. Virulence factors that are important in the host-pathogen interaction are analyzed.
Intended learning outcomes
Acquisition of professional competences to characterize bacterial pathogens, to classify their virulence and physiological properties and to understand their role in disease processes. Ability to analyze sequencing data using databases. Ability to discuss general aspects of infectious diseases in the society. Methodological competence to solve complex problems based on scientific data. Ability to present scientific work to others.
Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language — if other than German)
P (5) + S (1) Module taught in: German/English
Method of assessment (type, scope, language — if other than German, examination offered — if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus)
a) written examination (45 to 90 minutes) or b) log (10 to 20 pages) or c) oral examination of one candidate each (20 to 30 minutes) or d) oral examination in groups of up to 3 candidates (approx. 20 minutes per candidate) or e) presentation (20 to 30 minutes) Students will be informed about the type and length of assessment at the beginning of the course.
