| This module provides an introduction to the Classical Chinese literary language, its basic grammar and lexicon, and a range of short source texts from the early and classical to the medieval periods (philosophy, history, literature) that are translated into English in class. The analysis of syntactical features is based on a structural approach to grammar. This course also develops skills in reading full-form characters, in reconstructing early pronunciations, and in the use of lexical and other reference works. Moreover, it introduces elements of cultural-historical knowledge that are necessary for an appropriate contextualization, interpretation and translation of the source texts in the reading program. | | |
| Intended learning outcomes | | |
| This module enables students to read and understand simple texts in Classical Chinese, and to translate them into English. Students learn to analyze grammatical structures and to appropriately contextualize the texts. | | |
