Contents
With the help of examples of current research issues, the module European Ethnology/ Cultural Anthropology provides students with methods, perspectives, contexts and research perspectives that will be discussed and reflected. This will help to plan and work independently on the individual research interests with view on the master's thesis that has to be written and to the selection of adequate methods and issues.

Intended learning outcomes
Students achieve skills of providing own researches as well as choosing suitable methods and sources. They are able to defend their work rhetorically as well as argumentatively in front of a specialist audience and to defend their own research interests and approaches.
