This seminar explores the epistemology of theorizing music as a social process and theorizing the relationships among music, culture, and society. It provides a foundation in the intellectual history and theory of the field of ethnomusicology, from its roots in comparative musicology, folklore, and anthropology; to interdisciplinary influences from cultural studies, postcolonial studies, gender studies, and other disciplines; to the development of distinctly ethnomusicological theory and approaches to contemporary issues.
Intended learning outcomes
On successful completion of this module, students should be able to: demonstrate an understanding of the intellectual history and theory of the discipline of Ethnomusicology; engage in meaningful theoretical conversation with relevant scholarly work from ethnomusicology and related disciplines in relation to topics of their chosen specialization; begin to develop their own theoretical analysis and interpretations of new data; and display critical writing and presentation skills.
