graduate

Contents
“Development and acquisition”: In this module, the most important current methods and research interests in the fields of language development and language acquisition are addressed. In this context, developmental processes as well as their linguistic modelling are subject of discussion.

Intended learning outcomes
After attending the module, students will be able to recognize which processes play a role in language learning and how these function. Students will acquire the ability to identify developmental processes in concrete linguistic data and to analyse them in the view of current language theories.
