Contents
This career-oriented module with an exemplary work placement confronts students with the requirements that are placed on musicologists in occupational life. In addition to orientation about different occupational fields, techniques of application, self-qualification and further education are introduced and contacts to professional practice are made possible.
Intended learning outcomes
The student recognises the limits and possibilities that determine the job market for musicologists and learns to orientate, to contribute and to present him/herself. The student is given the opportunity to establish contacts and to take the choice of career into his/her own hands in a target-oriented way. Depending on the direction of the work placement, he/she is able to become acquainted with a specific field of work.
