Contents
In this module, the regional conditions and characteristics of music from different cultures are studied. Specific regional musical traditions are studied, for example from the perspective of their stylistic characteristics, their modes of transmission or those features which result from the spatial mobility of musicians. Empirical, source-critical or text-critical methods as well as comparative analyses are applied, for example with regard to regional transfer processes, characteristics of musical forms or regional traditions of music practice.
Intended learning outcomes
The student has an idea of the geographical spectrum and the regionally differentiated diversity of global music cultures. He/she is able to develop processes and phenomena shaped by regional music within the framework of a clearly defined task and to classify them in cultural or intercultural contexts.
