Instructional psychology deals with human experiences and behaviour while interacting with media in learning situations. The module equips students with fundamental knowledge on the subject, theories and empirical findings of as well as methods in instructional psychology. The module focuses on the introduction to: a) the subject, theories and findings of instructional psychology and digital media b) fields of research and current issues in instructional psychology c) methods in instructional psychology.
Intended learning outcomes
Students should be familiar with central concepts and methods of instructional psychology and its relevance for digital learning environments. They should have a basic knowledge of the subject-specific questions and should understand the relevance and importance of a psychological perspective as well as the relevance of questions in the field of the social sciences. Thus, a basis is provided for academic work as well as for acquiring practically relevant (vocationally oriented) media skills.
