Contents
The module introduces to actors in adult and continuing education and to theoretical models of their interaction (e.g. theories of educational governance, cooperation between the state, the market and civil society). Since adult and continuing education is characterised by local, regional, national and international influences, an introduction is given to the educational policy framework of the Federal Government, the European Union and UNESCO (e.g. to the Sustainability Goals). In addition, funding structures and responsibilities in adult and continuing education are examined.
Intended learning outcomes
Students have an overview of the various players in the field and are familiar with theoretical models that explain how they interact. In addition, they understand educational policy contexts in adult and continuing education. Concerning funding structures and the legal framework, students will have gained an overview of the responsibilities of the various players.
