

Module description

Practical Philosophy in Middle Ages and modern times o6-PhM-W7-242-mo1 Module cordinator Institute of Philosophy Institute of Philosophy Institute of Philosophy Institute of Philosophy Institute of Philosophy ECTS Method is of grading Only after succ. compl. of module(s) Institute of Philosophy Io num +ricit grade - Institute of Philosophy Institute of Philosophy Daration Module level Other prerequisites Institute of Philosophy Institute of Philosophy Isemester graduate Institute of Philosophy Institute of Philosophy Refared to analyse philosophical problems of modern philosophy (early modern practical philosophy. Intended to apply general principles of arguments, and theories; ability to apply general principles of argumentation such as transparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to present philosophical issues in a structured and linguistically and rheorically approxerate way. S (2) Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than Geman, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is cellable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) or al examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Instructures information regulations for teaching-degree program	Module title					Abbreviation
holder of the Chair of the History of Philosophy Institute of Philosophy ECTS Method of grading Only after succ. compl. of module(s) 10 numerical grade	Practical Philosophy in Middle Ages and modern times					06-PhM-W7-242-m01
ECTS Method of grading Only after succ. compl. of module(s) 10 numerical grade Duration Module level Other prerequisites 1 semester graduate Contents Reading and discussion of selected problems in medieval and modern practical philosophy. Intended learning outcomes Module level Ondern philosophical problems of modern philosophy (early modern to contemporary); in-depth know-ledge of the history of philosophical concepts, arguments, and theories; ability to apply general principles of argumentation such as transparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to present philosophical issues in a structured and linguistically and rhetorically appropriate way. Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language – if other than German) S (2) Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allocation of places Additional information Teaching cycle	Module coordinator				Module offered by
10 numerical grade Duration Module level Other prerequisites 1 semester graduate Contents Reading and discussion of selected problems in medieval and modern practical philosophy. Intended learning outcomes Ability to analyse philosophical problems of modern philosophy (early modern to contemporary); in-depth knows is that strasparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to present philosophical issues in a structured and linguistically and rhetorically appropriate way. Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language – if other than German) S S (2) Module laught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination of none candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allication of places Module target in:	holder of the Chair of the History of Philosor			losophy	Institute of Philosophy
Duration Module level Other prerequisites 1 semester graduate Contents Reading and discussion of selected problems in medieval and modern practical philosophy. Intended learning outcomes Ability to analyse philosophical problems of modern philosophy (early modern to contemporary); in-depth know-ledge of the history of philosophical concepts, arguments, and theories; ability to apply general principles of argumentation such as transparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to present philosophical issues in a structured and linguistically and rhetorically appropriate way. Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language – if other than German) S (2) Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allocation of place Motikoad 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes)	ECTS Method of grading		Only after succ. compl. of module(s)
1 semester graduate Contents Reading and discussion of selected problems in medieval and modern practical philosophy. Intended learning outcomes Ability to analyse philosophical problems of modern philosophy (early modern to contemporary); in-depth know-ledge of the history of philosophical concepts, arguments, and theories; ability to apply general principles of argumentation such as transparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to present philosophical issues in a structured and linguistically and rhetorically appropriate way. Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language – if other than German) S (2) Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for honus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Additional information	10 numerical grade
Contents Reading and discussion of selected problems in medieval and modern practical philosophy. Intended learning outcomes Ability to analyse philosophical problems of modern philosophy (early modern to contemporary); in-depth know-ledge of the history of philosophical concepts, arguments, and theories; ability to apply general principles of argumentation such as transparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to present philosophical issues in a structured and linguistically and rhetorically appropriate way. Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language – if other than German) S (2) Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Atlocation of places Morkload 30 on h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	Duration		Module level	Other prerequisites
Reading and discussion of selected problems in medieval and modern practical philosophy. Intended learning outcomes Ability to analyse philosophical problems of modern philosophy (early modern to contemporary); in-depth know- ledge of the history of philosophical concepts, arguments, and theories; ability to apply general principles of ar- gumentation such as transparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to pre- sent philosophical issues in a structured and linguistically and rhetorically appropriate way. Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language – if other than German) S (2) Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allocation of places Additional information Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	1 semester		graduate
Intended learning outcomes Ability to analyse philosophical problems of modern philosophy (early modern to contemporary); in-depth know- ledge of the history of philosophical concepts, arguments, and theories; ability to apply general principles of ar- gumentation such as transparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to pre- sent philosophical issues in a structured and linguistically and rhetorically appropriate way. Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language – if other than German) S (2) Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allocation of places Additional information Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	Contents
Ability to analyse philosophical problems of modern philosophy (early modern to contemporary); in-depth know- ledge of the history of philosophical concepts, arguments, and theories; ability to apply general principles of ar- gumentation such as transparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to pre- sent philosophical issues in a structured and linguistically and rhetorically appropriate way. Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language – if other than German) S (2) Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allocation of places Additional information Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	Reading and discussion of selected problems in medieval and modern practical philosophy.
ledge of the history of philosophical concepts, arguments, and theories; ability to apply general principles of ar- gumentation such as transparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to pre- sent philosophical issues in a structured and linguistically and rhetorically appropriate way. Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language – if other than German) S (2) Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allocation of places Additional information Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO 1 (examination for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	Intended learning outcomes
S (2) Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allocation of places Additional information Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	ledge of the history of philosophical concepts, arguments, and theories; ability to apply general principles of ar- gumentation such as transparency, consistency, discursivity, completeness, and generalisability; ability to pre-
Module taught in: German and/or English Method of assessment (type, scope, language – if other than German, examination offered – if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allocation of places Additional information Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language — if other than German) module is creditable for bonus) a) term paper (approx. 20 pages) or b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allocation of places Additional information Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO 1 (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in
b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes) Language of assessment: German and/or English Allocation of places Additional information Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in Additional information Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	b) oral examination of one candidate each (approx. 30 minutes)
Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	Allocation of places
Workload 300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in
300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	Additional information
300 h Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in
Teaching cycle Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	Workload
Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) Module appears in	300 h
	Teaching cycle
	Referred to in LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes)
Master's degree (1 major) Philosophy (2024)	Module	appea	irs in

JMU Würzburg • generated 29.03.2024 • Module data record 142296