Contents
This module elaborates on knowledge of theories and research in the context of counselling in special educational fields. It focuses on the (further) development of a professional, special educational counselling attitude and on institutional forms and target groups of counselling. Furthermore, it elaborates on selected counselling methods (including cooperative, client-centred, manifestation-oriented, solution-oriented, methodological and contradictory counselling) and allows for self-experience and self-reflection in the context of selected counselling methods. The students acquire central counselling skills, conversation techniques in (pedagogical) conflict situations and - depending on the respective counselling concept - skills in supervision and group counselling.
Intended learning outcomes
The students analyse central theories and techniques of counselling in different special educational fields of action. Based on scientific knowledge gained through practical experience, the students acquire central skills in different counselling methods. The students become acquainted with central conversation techniques which are required in conflict situations. They know various counselling situations in special educational fields of action and the corresponding interdisciplinary requirements.
