Contents
Knowledge of the basics, manifestations and expressions of anti-Semitism. Examination of psychosocial motivations as well as biographical and social conditions. Perception of diverse dimensions of Jewish life.
Intended learning outcomes
After completing the module, students will be familiar with definitions, theories and central concepts of anti-Semitism and will be able to grasp various forms of anti-Semitic manifestations as well as modes of expression. They develop a basic understanding of the psychosocial and social functions of anti-Semitism. The students reflect on biographical and social factors, thereby expanding their own perceptions and positions, and relate these to their professional knowledge. They are sensitized to the manifold dimensions of Jewish life.
