Contents
The lab course is carried out in a working group with biochemical and / or molecular biology research orientation at the University of Würzburg. The contents of the lab course have to be defined in advance in consultation with the module responsible. The lab course allows intensive training in biochemistry, molecular biology and / or bioinformatics research methods. The experiments and their results are documented in a written protocol.
Intended learning outcomes
After attending the lab course, the student has advanced methodological knowledge. He/She is able to transfer the methods used in this course on other issues and to assess their applicability. He/She is trained in scientifically correct documentation and discussion of experimentation and results.
