Wissenschaftliche Befähigung

Das Master-Studienfach Ethnomusikologie wird von der Philosophischen Fakultät der JMU als forschungsorientiertes einfaches Hauptfach mit dem Abschluss „Master of Arts“ (M.A.) angeboten. Ethnomusikologie ist ein interdisziplinäres und international ausgerichtetes Fach, das sowohl musikbezogene als auch soziokulturelle Studien umfasst und Ausbildung in ethnographischer Feldforschung bietet. Es beinhaltet die Untersuchung der Rolle des Musizierens in Kultur und Gesellschaft sowie von Kultur und Gesellschaft in der musikalischen Praxis aus multikultureller und globaler Perspektive. Dieses forschungsorientierte Programm bereitet die Studierenden darauf vor, weiterführende Forschung zu betreiben. Studierende entwickeln Kompetenzen in Interkulturalität und kritischem Denken, um zukünftige Arbeiten im kulturellen, sozialen, öffentlichen und/oder pädagogischen Bereich mit einem breiten Verständnis von Kunst und Kultur aus globalen Perspektiven anzugehen. Nach Abschluss des Studiums sollten Studierende folgende Kompetenzen erworben haben:

- Kenntnisse der historischen und zeitgenössischen ethnomusikologischen Theorie und Fähigkeit, sich tiefgehend und verständnisvoll im theoretischen Diskurs zu engagieren
- Fähigkeit zur Durchführung unabhängiger Forschung, einschließlich zur Sammlung und Analyse ethnomusikologischer Daten und zur sinnvollen Weitergabe von Forschungsergebnissen an WissenschaftlerInnen und die Öffentlichkeit
- generelle Vertrautheit mit verschiedenen Musikpraktiken und ausgewählten Musikkulturen aus aller Welt
- Verständnis für multikulturelle und transkulturelle Vielfalt, Gemeinsamkeiten und Verflechtungen
- Fähigkeit, kritisch über das Verhältnis von Kunst und Gesellschaft nachzudenken, wenn es um akademische, kulturelle, soziale oder pädagogische Arbeit geht;
- spezielle Kenntnisse einer Musikkultur und/oder eines musikalisch-sozialen Themas
- Fähigkeit, Brücken zwischen Wissenschaft und Praxis zu bauen, einschließlich der Fähigkeit, durch Praxis und/oder empirische Arbeit fundierte Theorie zu entwickeln und durch Theorie und Forschung reale Anwendungen anzugehen

Berufsbefähigung

- Interkulturelle und internationale Kompetenzen; Fähigkeit, sich bedeutungsvoll mit Personen verschiedenen Hintergrunds mit Sensibilität und globalem Verständnis zu befassen
- Fähigkeit, vielseitige unabhängige Projekte zu entwerfen und durchzuführen
- Anwendung von Theorie auf die Praxis
- Interdisziplinäre Kompetenzen; Fähigkeit, sich kritisch mit Paradigmen und Denkmodellen, die nicht aus dem eigenen Fachbereich stammen, zu beschäftigen

Persönlichkeitsentwicklung

- Toleranz und Aufgeschlossenheit
- Unabhängigkeit einschließlich unabhängigen Denkens und Fähigkeit, eigenständige Arbeit unabhängig anzulegen; Fähigkeiten zum Selbstlernen/ Selbststudium; Fähigkeit zum Lernen und sich Entwickeln durch verschiedene Übertragungsmethoden, darunter praxisbezogenes sowie literaturbasiertes Lernen
- Fähigkeiten zur Selbsteinschätzung und zum Geben konstruktiven Feedbacks an KollegInnen und KommilitonInnen

Gesellschaftliches Engagement

Die im Folgenden aufgelisteten Befähigungen zum gesellschaftlichen Engagement werden direkt in den Lehrveranstaltungen und weiteren Angeboten der Ethnomusikologie vermittelt.

- Das Studienprogramm weist einen starken Schwerpunkt der Applied Ethnomusicology auf. Applied Ethnomusicology setzt ethnomusikologische Erkenntnisse in musikzentrierten Interventionen in bestimmten Communities in die Praxis um, mit dem Ziel, der Gesellschaft zugute zu kommen. Bei den Interventionen handelt es sich um personenzentrierte, kooperative Partnerschaften, die auf ethnomusikologischer Feldforschung aufbauen und von ethischen Prinzipien der sozialen Verantwortung, der Menschenrechte, der Gegenseitigkeit und der kulturellen sowie musikalischen Gleichheit geleitet werden.
- Ethisches Handeln: Bewusstsein für Fragen des geistigen Eigentums und des Urheberrechts; kritisches Bewusstsein für Intersektionalität und Machtdynamiken; gleichberechtigte Interaktionen mit Studienteilnehmenden und Sicherung des Mehrwerts der Forschungen für die Gesellschaft
- Interkulturelle und internationale Kompetenzen: Fähigkeit, mit Personen verschiedener kultureller Kontexte zu interagieren; Fähigkeit, effektive Kommunikation in einer Fremdsprache bzw. in Fremdsprachen zu betreiben; Bewusstsein für gesamt-kulturelle Sensibilität, für Multikulturalität und globale Dynamiken
- Wissenschaftskommunikation und Anwendung der Forschung im öffentlichen Bereich; Fähigkeit, wissenschaftliche Kenntnisse der Öffentlichkeit bedeutungsvoll zu kommunizieren; Bewusstsein für Strategien zur Erleichterung von forschungsinformierten Aktionen zum Nutzen der Öffentlichkeit; Wertschätzung außerakademischen Wissens

Conventions

Unless otherwise stated, courses and assessments will be held in German, assessments will be offered every semester and modules are not creditable for bonus.

Notes

Should there be the option to choose between several methods of assessment, the lecturer will agree with the module coordinator on the method of assessment to be used in the current semester by two weeks after the start of the course at the latest and will communicate this in the customary manner.

Should the module comprise more than one graded assessment, all assessments will be equally weighted, unless otherwise stated below.

Should the assessment comprise several individual assessments, successful completion of the module will require successful completion of all individual assessments.

In accordance with the general regulations governing the degree subject described in this module catalogue:

ASPO2015

associated official publications (FSB (subject-specific provisions)/SFB (list of modules)):

o8-Dec-2015 (2015-256)

This module handbook seeks to render, as accurately as possible, the data that is of statutory relevance according to the examination regulations of the degree subject. However, only the FSB (subject-specific provisions) and SFB (list of modules) in their officially published versions shall be legally binding. In the case of doubt, the provisions on, in particular, module assessments specified in the FSB/SFB shall prevail.

Contents
The various theories and methods underlying ethnomusicological research in its comparative as well as historical dimension are developed. In terms of content, the focus is on cultural, music anthropological and sociological aspects as well as ethnographic methods of field research and transcription techniques. The course deals with the ethnographically different methods and techniques of transcription and documentation of orally transmitted music.
Intended learning outcomes
The student has acquired basic music anthropological and ethnographic competences. He/she has learnt how to deal with traditional (music) cultures and is qualified to theoretically understand general discourses of musical writing and to provide them in an exemplary manner.

Contents
The central theoretical and practical features of ethnomusicological regional research are taught, taking into account the methods of affine cultural studies and humanities disciplines. Music is covered not only as an aesthetic phenomenon, but also in its respective anthropological, socio-cultural and religious context. Students will also be provided with the basics of the study of performance and historical performance practice in traditional cultures.
Intended learning outcomes
The student is qualified to theoretically understand the basics of musical regional research and, if necessary, general discourses of historical performance practice on the basis of a specific regional culture. One objective here can also be the acquisition of practical music competences.

Contents
The module deals with phenomena of popular music in a global context. The contents focus on the reception of non-European music in Europe and North America as well as the confrontation of non-European musicians with Western popular music, the resulting cooperations and syntheses. Aesthetic, commercial and media-technical aspects will be taken into account. Music as an anthropological phenomenon is a primary criterion in the construction of cultural identities. At the same time it proves to be a carrier of intercultural transfer processes. The module will develop central theoretical principles of cultural transfer research in an exemplary manner.
Intended learning outcomes
The student acquires intercultural competences. He/she is qualified to theoretically understand general discourses between music cultures and specific intercultural reception and assimilation mechanisms, e.g. specific manifestations of a "Global Pop", and to provide them using examples.

In this module, the sources, musical testimonies and cultural-historical conditions of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages (around 1420) and their music-historiographical interpretation are studied. The focus is on phenomena and historical processes in the field of music and musical thinking. Using significant examples, specific methods of the Humanities (such as philological, descriptive, comparative and analytical working methods) and of speaking about music (such as specialist terminology and use of metaphor) are taught, reflected and practised.
Intended learning outcomes
The student has a sound knowledge of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages, of its sources and its phenomena. He/she is able to classify these in a reflected manner into historical contexts. He/she is familiar with key problems of music historical research within this period. On this basis, he/she is able to present and interpret music-historical phenomena independently, sophisticatedly and method-consciously.

This module studies the human being in its relationship to its music as one of the most important cultural components as well as the mutual relationship between music producers, recipients and musical products. In particular, the different musical concepts, musical actions, physical, psychological, verbal, symbolic and social behaviour and musical manifestations will be covered.
Intended learning outcomes
The student is able to theorise and exemplarily explain the reciprocity of music, music production and music reception. He/she has acquired music conceptual, psychological, sociological, semantic and action-theoretical competences, weighted differently depending on the specific subject, in order to systematically describe the connection between people and music.

This module is designed for students who focus on the main focus of Transcultural Music Studies. It deals with the inter- and transcultural exchange of musical styles and phenomena, which has been particularly noticeable since the 19th century. The focus is on either non-European film music or musical syntheses from a global perspective.
Intended learning outcomes
In addition to the acquisition of comprehensive intercultural competence, the student is qualified to understand and analyse synthetic processes between global musical genres and to classify them into their cultural-historical context on the basis of selected examples.

The students should independently organise a field research project during the semester or semester break. Observations, impressions and results are communicated to the fellow students during the seminar and presented in the form of a field research report. Knowledge that has already been acquired in previous modules as well as acquired cultural-anthropological and ethnographic skills will be applied in practice.
Intended learning outcomes
The student is provided with the necessary academic and organisational skills to independently plan, conduct, archive and evaluate field research.

Students acquire detailed knowledge of the area cultural-scientific technology research; Consolidation and expansion of the cultural-scientific methodical expertise; Introduction to and critical dealing with current research issues of the cultural-scientific technology research.
Intended learning outcomes
Students acquire different cultural-scientific methods and analysis concepts and understand to apply these to historic sources independently. They are able to classify the results of their autonomous analysis into a larger cultural or discourse-historical context. They also acquire the ability to deal independently with basic as well as current issues of the cultural-scientific technology research and to present these independently. They achieve methods of self-organisation and time management and are able to provide own contributions to research under supervision.

In this module a self-written text on an ethnomusicological topic will be worked out with the support of a tutor*. Under guidance, the candidates will choose a suitable subject. The students develop and define the question and aim of their project. The candidates will write a text that meets academic standards in terms of method and linguistic presentation, taking into account the relevant academic literature and applying appropriate methods, including the evaluation of field research material if necessary.
Intended learning outcomes
The candidate has the academic knowledge and methods that enable him/her to work largely independently on a defined topic. He/she has the linguistic skills for differentiated analysis and presentation of ethnomusicological problems. With the support of the supervisor, he/she is technically and organisationally able to write an ethnomusicological study that complies with the rules of good scientific practice.

In this module, the candidate works on four subject-relevant topics that are clearly distinguished from each other in terms of academic perspective or frame of reference. As a rule, two main topics and two additional topics will be determined with the examiner at the candidate's suggestion. The selection of academic literature and musical examples on which the thesis will be based will be agreed between the candidate and the examiner. The examination interview will be aimed at the proof of professional knowledge, its academic classification and an appropriate linguistic presentation.
Intended learning outcomes
The candidate has extensive knowledge of the four selected subject-relevant topics. He/she is able to penetrate the acquired knowledge in an academically adequate manner, to classify and to apply it critically. He/she is able to answer questions in free speech as well as to make competent contributions to an academic and professional exchange in dialogue.
