Content and Objectives of the Programme

The aim of the main subject programme is to impart knowledge of the most important subdisciplines of Indology / South Asia Studies as well as of the methods of Indology / South Asia Studies, i.e. of subject-specific thinking and working. Here the learning of linguistic skills in South Asian languages is an essential element in ensuring the quality of the training. Students develop the abilities which will later enable them to orientate quickly in their task areas in the professional field. The programme furthermore provides the necessary fundamental knowledge to continue with the Master programme which follows on from the Bachelor programme. The courses are divided into Compulsory Choice, Optional Choice and Key Qualification areas (Pflichtbereich, Wahlpflichtbereich and Schlüsselqualifikationen).

The career opportunities for specialists on India will expand substantially in the coming years, as India is attracting increasing political and cultural interest world-wide as an economic power with high growth rates. The importance of India in a globalised world calls for people with good linguistic and regional knowledge, not only in economic and developmental cooperation but also in scientific and cultural organisations.

In the subject area Indology / South Asia Studies, in-depth and also practice-relevant knowledge of language, culture, history and social structures in the South Asia region, especially India, is imparted. This includes studies and practical periods and also intensive language courses in the country in question as well as well-grounded teaching of »intercultural competence« by acknowledged experts on South Asia. At the same time, students acquire academic, social and communicative competences which also open the way to new career opportunities. Examples of these are work with one of the numerous German enterprises operating in India, in the field of cultural management, in aid organisations, or with institutions such as the GTZ. Experience abroad in an Asian country also develops students' personal sense of responsibility and flexibility, equipping them for careers in the most varied fields. For graduates with a correspondingly good degree, the path is open to the next level Master programme, which in turn can lead to a doctorate.

Conventions

Unless otherwise stated, courses and assessments will be held in German, assessments will be offered every semester and modules are not creditable for bonus.

Notes

Should there be the option to choose between several methods of assessment, the lecturer will agree with the module coordinator on the method of assessment to be used in the current semester by two weeks after the start of the course at the latest and will communicate this in the customary manner.

Should the module comprise more than one graded assessment, all assessments will be equally weighted, unless otherwise stated below.

Should the assessment comprise several individual assessments, successful completion of the module will require successful completion of all individual assessments.

In accordance with the general regulations governing the degree subject described in this module catalogue:

ASPO2009

associated official publications (FSB (subject-specific provisions)/SFB (list of modules)):

12-May-2011 (2011-43)

This module handbook seeks to render, as accurately as possible, the data that is of statutory relevance according to the examination regulations of the degree subject. However, only the FSB (subject-specific provisions) and SFB (list of modules) in their officially published versions shall be legally binding. In the case of doubt, the provisions on, in particular, module assessments specified in the FSB/SFB shall prevail.

We will read and translate simple Sanskrit texts (e. g. epics, narrative texts) but will not identify the grammatical forms of individual words. The main aim of the course is to read larger amounts of text, not to analyse texts in detail.
Intended learning outcomes
Reading larger amounts of text, students will become more experienced with reading Sanskrit and will expand their vocabulary and grammar skills. They will be able to extract meaning from longer text passages within a reasonable period of time.

Using appropriate scholarly methods, the student will research and write on a specific problem in indology within the time period specified by ASPO (general academic and examination regulations). If the student is studying for a Bachelor's degree with two majors, he/she may choose an interdisciplinary topic relating to both subjects. The subject matter is to be agreed upon with the supervisor of the thesis or, in the case of the student studying two majors, with the supervisors.
Intended learning outcomes
Students are able to conduct research on a defined topic in indology, adhering to the principles of good scholarly practice, and to appropriately present the results of their work in written form.

This module aims to provide an overview of the different European perceptions of Indian culture(s) in the period between antiquity and the modern era, with particular emphasis on how European perceptions of India and Indian perceptions of Europe are changing in today's globalised world. The module will also focus on how the academic discipline of indology has helped bridge the gap between the two cultures ever since the 19th century and how the methods in indology have changed over time.
Intended learning outcomes
Students have acquired an overview of how European perceptions of India have changed in the period between antiquity and the modern era. They are familiar with the history and methods of India studies.
