Content and Objectives of the Programme

The subject “Diversity, Ethics, and Religions” is offered by the JMU Faculty of Human Sciences as a fundamentally oriented course leading to the degree “Bachelor of Arts” (B.A.) (acquisition of 180 ECTS points) as part of a consecutive Bachelor and Master study model offered in English.

The study of “Diversity, Ethics and Religions” provides access to various religious intellectual traditions and the dynamic exchange processes in which they take place. The goal is to provide students with both substantive and critical knowledge from the past to inform the present. Acquiring in-depth knowledge of history and philosophy should enable the new generation to better deal with differences and conflicts and to adopt distant perspectives in order to apply them to their own reality.

They are able to integrate this area/these areas in an overall context and to identify interdependencies. They expand their frame of reference to European and non-European aspects. They are able to choose suitable tools and methods and to deploy them appropriately. The students are able to critically analyse and interpret sources and specialised literature as well as to present their evaluations in an appropriate manner.
