Content and Objectives of the Programme

The interdisciplinary degree programme Mittelalter und Frühe Neuzeit (Medieval and Early Modern Studies, 120 ECTS) offers research-oriented specialist training. Graduates will be well equipped for both academic and highly skilled non-academic careers, e. g. in culture or cultural management. Offering a broad and diverse range of courses from various disciplines, this programme equips students with specialist knowledge on research topics in medieval and early modern studies, with historical research skills and with proficiency in cutting-edge methods in the humanities. Students who graduated from this programme will

- be able to discuss issues in an appropriate manner, both in oral and written form, and to present these in a suitable manner to a target audience,
- be able to discuss, in scholarly detail and in an appropriate manner, research findings as well as specialised problems of the discipline,
- have enhanced the discursive skills they developed e. g. by actively participating in courses,
- be able to independently identify research problems and desiderata and develop solutions, using scholarly methods,
- have gained the research experience necessary for transfer to a doctoral programme.

Contents
This module is designed to teach in-depth knowledge by generic examples of the Middle Ages and Early Modern Age going beyond the contents, which have been acquired during the bachelor degree courses; Consolidation of literary or linguistic methodological competence; Introduction to and critical engagement in current research questions; Intensification of linguistic or literary analysis of historical texts from the Middle Ages or Early Modern Age; The experienced dealing with a comprehensive wealth of professional material will be practised.
Intended learning outcomes
Students are acquainted with different literary and/or linguistic methods and analytical concepts confidently and know, how to apply these skills to medieval texts and texts of Early Modern Age independently. They will acquire the ability to classify the results of their independent analysis in a bigger linguistic, literary or discourse-historical context as well as the ability to deal independently with basic and current issues of research of the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Age and to present these issues independently (research works, presentations and other methods, seminar papers and other textualisation and presentation types). They are familiar with methods of the self-organisation and time management and are able to compile individual articles for research under tutelage.

Contents
This module focuses on consolidating students' knowledge of medieval history and giving students an opportunity to independently apply this knowledge, employ the methods of the discipline, and use relevant forms of presentation. Discussing selected examples, the module consolidates students' previous knowledge of medieval history. Problems in medieval history are explored in both source-based and research-oriented courses. Problems in cultural, social, structural, and economic history, the history of society, and the history of mentalities as well as interdisciplinary problems are also considered.
Intended learning outcomes
Students are able to familiarise themselves with more complex issues, employing the methods of the discipline and taking into account relevant source material and secondary literature as well as the findings of related disciplines. They are able to independently analyse and interpret sources and accounts of medieval history.

Focus subject Musicology

(30 ECTS credits)

Applicants who, in accordance with Section 4 Subsection 1 Letter b) FSB (subject-specific provisions), have achieved 30 ECTS credits in the area of Musikwissenschaft (Musicology) will choose the focus subject "Musikwissenschaft" ("Musicology") (MUWI).

Module title		Abbreviation
Music History of Premodern Europe 1		04-MUWI-1-122-m01
Module coordinator		Module offered by
holder of the Chair of Musicology II		Institute for Musical Research
ECTS	Method of grading	Only after succ. compl. of module(s)
10	numerical grade	--
Duration	Module level	Other prerequisites
1 semester	graduate	Knowledge of modern musical notation desirable.
Contents
In this module, the sources, musical testimonies and cultural-historical conditions of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages (around 1420) and their music-historiographical interpretation are studied. The focus is on phenomena and historical processes in the field of music and musical thinking. Using significant examples, specific methods of the Humanities (such as philological, descriptive, comparative and analytical working methods) and of speaking about music (such as specialist terminology and use of metaphor) are taught, reflected and practised.
Intended learning outcomes
The student has a well-founded knowledge of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages, its sources and its phenomena. He/she is able to classify these in a reflected manner into historical contexts. He/she is familiar with key problems of music historical research within this period. On this basis, the student is able to present and interpret music-historical phenomena independently, sophisticatedly and method-consciously.

This module is designed to teach in-depth knowledge by generic examples of the Middle Ages and Early Modern Age going beyond the contents, which have been acquired during the bachelor degree courses; Consolidation of literary or linguistic methodological competence; Introduction to and critical engagement in current research questions; Intensification of linguistic or literary analysis of historical texts from the Middle Ages or Early Modern Age; The experienced dealing with a comprehensive wealth of professional material will be practised.
Intended learning outcomes
Students are acquainted with different literary and/or linguistic methods and analytical concepts confidently and know, how to apply these skills to medieval texts and texts of Early Modern Age independently. They will acquire the ability to classify the results of their independent analysis in a bigger linguistic, literary or discourse-historical context as well as the ability to deal independently with basic and current issues of research of the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Age and to present these issues independently (research works, presentations and other methods, seminar papers and other textualisation and presentation types). They are familiar with methods of the self-organisation and time management and are able to compile individual articles for research under tutelage.

This module focuses on consolidating students' knowledge of medieval history and giving students an opportunity to independently apply this knowledge, employ the methods of the discipline, and use relevant forms of presentation. Discussing selected examples, the module consolidates students' previous knowledge of medieval history. Problems in medieval history are explored in both source-based and research-oriented courses. Problems in cultural, social, structural, and economic history, the history of society, and the history of mentalities as well as interdisciplinary problems are also considered.
Intended learning outcomes
Students are able to familiarise themselves with more complex issues, employing the methods of the discipline and taking into account relevant source material and secondary literature as well as the findings of related disciplines. They are able to independently analyse and interpret sources and accounts of medieval history.

holder of the Chair of Musicology II		Institute for Musical Research
ECTS	Method of grading	Only after succ. compl. of module(s)
10	numerical grade	--
Duration	Module level	Other prerequisites
1 semester	graduate	Knowledge of modern musical notation desirable.
Contents
In this module, the sources, musical testimonies and cultural-historical conditions of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages (around 1420) and their music-historiographical interpretation are studied. The focus is on phenomena and historical processes in the field of music and musical thinking. Using significant examples, specific methods of the Humanities (such as philological, descriptive, comparative and analytical working methods) and of speaking about music (such as specialist terminology and use of metaphor) are taught, reflected and practised.
Intended learning outcomes
The student has a well-founded knowledge of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages, its sources and its phenomena. He/she is able to classify these in a reflected manner into historical contexts. He/she is familiar with key problems of music historical research within this period. On this basis, the student is able to present and interpret music-historical phenomena independently, sophisticatedly and method-consciously.

Die Studierenden verfügen über verschiedene rechtswissenschaftliche Methoden und Analysekonzepte und verstehen es, diese eigenständig auf historische Texte anzuwenden. Sie erwerben die Fähigkeit, die Ergebnisse ihrer selbständigen Analyse in einen größeren rechtsgeschichtlichen Zusammenhang einzuordnen, sowie die Fähigkeit, sich selbständig mit den grundlegenden und aktuellen Fragestellungen der Forschung auseinanderzusetzen und diese selbständig darzustellen und zu präsentieren. Sie beherrschen die Methoden der Selbstorganisation und des Zeitmanagements und sind in der Lage, unter Anleitung eigene Beiträge zur rechtshistorischen Forschung zu erarbeiten.

Auf der Grundlage gefestigter historischer Kenntnisse der chinesischen Geschichte aus dem BA- Studiengang erfolgt eine Erweiterung der historischen und literaturwissenschaftlichen Inhalte und der Methodenkompetenz für den ostasiatischen Kulturraum. Das Modul umfasst die Epoche von der ausgehenden Tang- bis zur mittleren Qing-Zeit (9. bis 18. Jh.). Diese Epoche gilt als Phase der Erneuerung aus Krisen und der Rekonstitution einer kulturellen Ordnung. In nahezu allen gesellschaftlichen und kulturellen Bereichen wurden die Grundlagen für nachfolgende Generationen neu gelegt. Grundkenntnisse und wesentliche Entwicklungen werden insbesondere in der Vorlesung vermittelt. Die Vertiefung und wissenschaftliche Auswertung an bedeutenden und relevanten Aspekten wie der Literatur, Historiographie und Geistesgeschichte erfolgt in einzelnen Teilmodulen. In einer schriftlichen Hausarbeit werden in einem der Seminare dem Fach spezifische Arbeits- und Forschungsmethoden angewendet.
