Content and Objectives of the Programme

The Bachelor programme History of Medieval and Modern Art (secondary subject, 60 ECTS) imparts well-founded knowledge on the changing forms of artistic expression in Europe and North America within a period stretching from the early Middle Ages to the threshold of the present day. Besides general fundamental scientific qualifications and analytical/methodical competences, students acquire knowledge of the most important landmarks in all three artistic genres (architecture, sculpture, painting) and of specifics of their form and iconography, developing an awareness of the historicity of research methods. They acquire competence in applying subject-specific terminology and methods. They become familiar with handling originals and receive insights into the resulting complexes of questions regarding heritage management, restoration and conservation. Students develop understanding of the historical circumstances in which works of arts came into being and the creative achievement involved. In addition, they acquire fundamental knowledge in Museology and develop sensitivity for the needs of the recipients in the communication of art historical topics.
