Content and Objectives of the Programme

In the Bachelor programme Russian Language and Culture as main subject (120 ECTS), the student gains familiarity with the most important subdisciplines of Russian Studies: literature, linguistics, cultural studies and regional studies as well as with methods in Russian Studies and acquisition of language skills. The student is also equipped to adapt flexibly to tasks arising in all the various professional fields open to graduates of the BA programme. Primary professional fields are in education and cultural pedagogics in the broadest sense, but also in tourism, media, publishing and industry.

In addition, these studies provide the basic knowledge for admission to Master of Arts programme (MA) in Russian Language and Culture and other thematically related MA programmes.

Conventions

Unless otherwise stated, courses and assessments will be held in German, assessments will be offered every semester and modules are not creditable for bonus.

Notes

Should there be the option to choose between several methods of assessment, the lecturer will agree with the module coordinator on the method of assessment to be used in the current semester by two weeks after the start of the course at the latest and will communicate this in the customary manner.

Should the module comprise more than one graded assessment, all assessments will be equally weighted, unless otherwise stated below.

Should the assessment comprise several individual assessments, successful completion of the module will require successful completion of all individual assessments.

In accordance with the general regulations governing the degree subject described in this module catalogue:

ASPO2007

associated official publications (FSB (subject-specific provisions)/SFB (list of modules)):

17-Feb-2011 (2011-18)

This module handbook seeks to render, as accurately as possible, the data that is of statutory relevance according to the examination regulations of the degree subject. However, only the FSB (subject-specific provisions) and SFB (list of modules) in their officially published versions shall be legally binding. In the case of doubt, the provisions on, in particular, module assessments specified in the FSB/SFB shall prevail.
