Content and Objectives of the Programme

The degree subject Premodern South Asia is offered by the Faculty of Arts of JMU in the framework of a programme that combines a major and a minor and focuses on the fundamental principles of the two disciplines. Which degree is awarded to the graduate is determined by his or her major.

Premodern South Asia is a disciplinary field that primarily uses historical and philological approaches to investigate the premodern Indian cultural area on the basis of the available sources. Students of Premodern South Asia get equipped with knowledge and skills in the most important branches of Indology and get trained in the methods typically used in the discipline. Developing a knowledge of Sanskrit, one of the classical languages of India, is an essential element of the students' training. Equipped with discipline-specific knowledge and skills as well as interpersonal and communication skills, graduates from Premodern South Asia are well prepared for a wide variety of careers. They will be able to quickly familiarise themselves with, and work in, a wide range of fields. Studying Premodern South Asia at Bachelor's degree level at the University of Würzburg, students:

- gain an overview of the languages and literatures of the Indian subcontinent as well as facts about the intellectual and cultural history of the subcontinent from antiquity to the present day,
- develop sound reading and translation skills in Sanskrit, one of the classical languages of India, and its script,
- gain a grounding in the research methods typically used in Indology,
- develop an awareness of the specific characteristics of Indian literatures, cultural traditions and the society rooted in them,
- learn some essential methods for the analysis of literary, theological and philosophical texts in their original language,
- develop the ability to appropriately delineate problems, both verbally and in writing, and to present them - using media support - in a suitable manner to a target group.

Conventions

Unless otherwise stated, courses and assessments will be held in German, assessments will be offered every semester and modules are not creditable for bonus.

Notes

Should there be the option to choose between several methods of assessment, the lecturer will agree with the module coordinator on the method of assessment to be used in the current semester by two weeks after the start of the course at the latest and will communicate this in the customary manner.

Should the module comprise more than one graded assessment, all assessments will be equally weighted, unless otherwise stated below.

Should the assessment comprise several individual assessments, successful completion of the module will require successful completion of all individual assessments.

In accordance with the general regulations governing the degree subject described in this module catalogue:

ASPO2015

associated official publications (FSB (subject-specific provisions)/SFB (list of modules)):

20-Feb-2019 (2019-4)

This module handbook seeks to render, as accurately as possible, the data that is of statutory relevance according to the examination regulations of the degree subject. However, only the FSB (subject-specific provisions) and SFB (list of modules) in their officially published versions shall be legally binding. In the case of doubt, the provisions on, in particular, module assessments specified in the FSB/SFB shall prevail.

During their stay in South Asia, students will become familiar with everyday life in their host country, with its antiquities as well as with its academic, economic and public institutions. In addition, they will learn to communicate effectively with native speakers in their host country.
Intended learning outcomes
Students will be able to independently gather information in South Asia, to independently and confidently interact with the local community as well as to correctly interpret cultural experiences.
Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language — if other than German)
E (2) Module taught in: German and/or English
Method of assessment (type, scope, language — if other than German, examination offered — if not every semester, information on whether module is creditable for bonus) term paper (approx. 20 pages) Language of assessment: German and/or English
Allocation of places
12 places. Students of the subjects Indologie/Südasienskunde (Indology/South Asian Studies), Indologie (Indology) as well as Modernes Südasiens (Modern South Asian Studies) will be given preferential consideration. If and when places remain untaken or become available, they will be allocated to students of other subjects as part of a planned teaching export. Places will primarily be allocated according to the number of subject semesters; among applicants with the same number of subject semesters, places will be allocated by lot. A waiting list will be maintained and places re-allocated by lot as they become available.

Contents
This module aims to provide an overview of the different European perceptions of Indian culture(s) in the period between antiquity and the modern era, with particular emphasis on how European perceptions of India and Indian perceptions of Europe are changing in today's globalised world. The module will also focus on how the academic discipline of indology has helped bridge the gap between the two cultures ever since the 19th century and how the methods in indology have changed over time.
Intended learning outcomes
Students have acquired an overview of how European perceptions of India have changed in the period between antiquity and the modern era. They are familiar with the history and methods of India studies.

Introduction to the philosophies of life, the customs as well as thought and action patterns in Indian culture. Reflection on the mindsets and thought patterns in the students' own (German) culture. Differences in communication styles between India and Germany. Causes of conflict in intercultural encounters.
Intended learning outcomes
Students have developed an awareness of how their cultural background influences the way they act, and they are familiar with social structures in India. The development of this awareness and familiarity is necessary for students to acquire intercultural competence.

The aim of this module is to provide historical overviews of specific topics in Indian regional studies (e. g. urban development, language policy) or to explore selected topical issues in Indian society, politics, and culture. We will also look at current media coverage - in India and other (preferably English-speaking) countries - of issues discussed.
Intended learning outcomes
Students have acquired a thorough knowledge about selected aspects of the society, politics, history, geography, and culture of modern South Asia. They are able to evaluate and comment on current events and related media coverage

We will read and translate simple Sanskrit texts (e. g. epics, narrative texts) but will not identify the grammatical forms of individual words. The main aim of the course is to read larger amounts of text, not to analyse texts in detail.
Intended learning outcomes
Reading larger amounts of text, students will become more experienced with reading Sanskrit and will expand their vocabulary and grammar skills. They will be able to extract meaning from longer text passages within a reasonable period of time.
