The advanced module consolidates the basics that have already been acquired in the basic module. Hence, at least one subject area has to be covered in-depth and with emphasis in the introductory course, e.g. didactics and methodology of the communicative English lessons, intercultural learning, theories of learning languages. The course does not necessarily cover contents of the core curriculum, but can also include newer research results of the English teaching methodology and its reference disciplines. The course is an optimal preparation for the written exam, which is also based on the core curriculum.
Intended learning outcomes
To pass this module, students will be expected to: - acquire detailed knowledge of discussed areas of the English teaching methodology, - understand and reflect respective technical literature independently broaden their subject-specific repertoire of concepts.

Introduction to objects, methods and theories of the American regional and cultural studies. On the basis of historical and literary sources, important historical, social and cultural developments as well as core documents of North America or the British Isles will be discussed and analysed. Thus, the American studies will focus different core themes, such as the situation of women, the situation of the Afro-Americans as well as of the Native Americans from 1492 up to the 21st century. The English studies will discuss, among other things, theoretical, cultural science-based texts of Michel Foucault, Stuart Hall, Benedict Anderson and Judith Butler. These texts will be critically applied to cultural phenomena.
Intended learning outcomes
Cultural science-based and regional basic knowledge of the US and/or Canada or the British Isles, insight into essential facts of the North American history or the history of the United Kingdom, Ireland etc., basic knowledge of selected historical or contemporary topic areas of cultural sciences as well as the ability to analyse and contextualise historical, cultural-theoretical and literary texts
