Conventions

Unless otherwise stated, courses and assessments will be held in German, assessments will be offered every semester and modules are not creditable for bonus.

Notes

Should there be the option to choose between several methods of assessment, the lecturer will agree with the module coordinator on the method of assessment to be used in the current semester by two weeks after the start of the course at the latest and will communicate this in the customary manner.

Should the module comprise more than one graded assessment, all assessments will be equally weighted, unless otherwise stated below.

Should the assessment comprise several individual assessments, successful completion of the module will require successful completion of all individual assessments.

In accordance with the general regulations governing the degree subject described in this module catalogue:

LASP02009

associated official publications (FSB (subject-specific provisions)/SFB (list of modules)):

23-May-2013 (2012-56)

This module handbook seeks to render, as accurately as possible, the data that is of statutory relevance according to the examination regulations of the degree subject. However, only the FSB (subject-specific provisions) and SFB (list of modules) in their officially published versions shall be legally binding. In the case of doubt, the provisions on, in particular, module assessments specified in the FSB/SFB shall prevail.

Thesis

(10 ECTS credits)

Preparation of a written Hausarbeit (thesis) in accordance with the provisions of Section 29 LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) is a prerequisite for teaching degree students to be admitted to the Erste Staatsprüfung (First State Examination). In accordance with the provisions of Section 29 LPO I, students studying for a teaching degree Sonderpädagogik may write this thesis in the subject they selected as sonderpädagogische Fachrichtung (special education specialization). Pursuant to Section 29 Subsection 1 Sentence 2 LPO I, students may also choose to write an interdisciplinary thesis.

We discuss early theoretical concepts and their development or modification (for example Georgens/Deinhardt) in the context of current theories (for example WHO, inclusion) as well as their effects on scientific research. We examine society's attitude towards disabilities and the development of individual and social identity in the context of disabilities (possibly in the context of specific types of disability). Furthermore, we talk about possibilities of social empathy and ways of improvement as well as aspects of attitude change.

Intended learning outcomes

Advanced knowledge of specific theoretical concepts, reflection competence in the context of disabilities and society, increasing problem awareness in the context of disabilities (possibly with a specific focus).

Special Education as an academic discipline; subject and purpose of science and scientificity, scientific methods and systems, central and selected scientific-theoretical theories and methods of knowledge acquisition (especially: empirical-analytical approach, critical rationalism, phenomenology, hermeneutics, critical theory, constructivism and systems theory) as well as principles of scientific work -- also based on specific problems and topics of special educational theory, empirical research and practice.

Intended learning outcomes

The students are able to examine special educational problems in view of different scientific positions and perspectives (professional and methodological competence). They have advanced their basic knowledge of scientific theory on their own or in small groups (social, methodological and professional competence). By applying different learning techniques, the students extend their knowledge of scientific theory and learn to conduct systematic and methodological research; they are able to independently conduct and evaluate small scientific projects (methodological, social and self-competence).

Overview of key and special phenomena of behavioural abnormalities; discussion of selected phenomena regarding manifestations, diagnostics and differential diagnostics, explanatory approaches (also: complexity of influencing factors) and especially regarding starting points, guidelines and concepts of pedagogical, therapeutic-pedagogical, psychosocial and psychotherapeutic prevention and intervention; overview of relevant support concepts in view of behavioural abnormalities; overview of the institutions relevant to Education for People with Emotional and Behavioural Disorders.

Intended learning outcomes

The examination of phenomena and their backgrounds promotes the students' professional competence: They are able to recognize and evaluate problems in the context of behavioural disorders. At the same time, their methodological competencies are fostered: They can choose approaches and concepts according to practical problems and institutional contexts. In the practical parts of the module, the students advance their social competence of problem solving. They further develop self-competence by gaining confidence in dealing with behavioural abnormalities in pedagogical contexts and by increasing the ability to judge their own possibilities and limits

Examination and analysis of general and specific concepts of teaching people with behavioural disorders, also in the range of pedagogic-didactic and therapeutic-pedagogical concepts; utilisation of subject-didactic and technical knowledge and skills to implement didactic action in the support focus area.

Intended learning outcomes

Professional competence: The students can critically discuss didactic theories. They can establish and evaluate interdisciplinary connections between these theories and other sciences. They are able to evaluate research results and contents in view of the future occupational field and can evaluate their relevance for didactics for people with emotional and behavioural disorders. Methodological competence: The students acquire subject-didactic and technical knowledge and skills and are able to apply these. The students collect information on the current state of research and theory of didactics in the context of behavioural disorders and examine this information on the basis of specific goals and questions. Their studies might result in an empirical study, the development of a theory-oriented concept, the development of teaching sequences, an exemplary, evaluation-based application in class, a reader or journal article etc. A cooperation with a practice institution is also possible.

Intended learning outcomes

By closely studying the contents of a didactic project, the students have acquired general and specific knowledge of didactic questions (professional competence) and are able to find own approaches to scientific questions; they are acquainted with possibilities of theoretical and empirical data research (methodological competence). They are able to review complex problems in group work whilst sticking to a self-developed work plan in a target-oriented manner (social competence). They can independently plan and complete the execution of a complex task in a project-oriented manner.

Principles of counselling in the context of behavioural disorders: Framework conditions of professional counselling in the context of behavioural disorders, qualifications of the counsellor regarding behavioural disorders, basic knowledge of subject-specific counselling: disorder-specific counselling, support systems for school and extracurricular problems in the context of behavioural disorders; counselling in theory and practice. Communication models, conversation techniques, theory and practice of at least one counselling approach; guidance of students during their work placement in a school that focuses on supporting emotional and social development or possibly in a regular school with pupils with special educational needs in the area of emotional and social development or possibly in a regular school with integrated pupils with special educational needs in the area of emotional and social development.

Intended learning outcomes

The students have advanced their professional competence by acquiring profound basic skills and knowledge of counselling in the context of behavioural disorders. They have advanced their methodological and self-competence by testing a counselling method in practice and analysing their own behaviour on the basis of the counselling model. Furthermore, they are skilled in evaluating self- and external perception during counselling. By working in various social forms (partner work, group work, etc.) and reflecting different contents, situations and processes in the group, the students' social competence is promoted.

After collecting information on the state of research and theory of a selected topic of pedagogy and/or psychology, the students independently examine this topic on the basis of specific goals and questions and carry out a sub-project with a specific result. This might result in an empirical study, the development of a theory-oriented concept, the development of a pedagogical or therapeutic-pedagogical concept, an exemplary, evaluation-based application in class, the writing of a reader or journal article etc. A cooperation with a practice institution is also possible. The content as well as the result of the project is supposed to consist of a report in the form of a project study. The contents of the module are related to the module o6-V-ProjPPA.

Intended learning outcomes

The students know and are able to apply approaches to scientific questions (professional and methodological competence); they have advanced problem-specific knowledge of pedagogical questions and psychological perspectives regarding behavioural disorders (professional competence); they know possibilities of theoretical and empirical data research (methodological competence); they are able to review complex problems in group work whilst sticking to a self-developed work plan in a target-oriented manner (social competence); they independently execute a complex task over a longer period of time with a high level of self-learning (self-competence).

Knowledge of the historical development of Speech and Language Pathology; advanced knowledge of the preconditions of language and speech; principles of language acquisition and theories; introduction to the main clinical pictures of language and speech in the context of learning disabilities and behavioural abnormalities

Self- and social competence: The students concentrate on studying contents of Speech and Language Pathology and neighbouring disciplines. Methodological competence: The students methodically acquire professional knowledge of Speech and Language Pathology and neighbouring disciplines and critically evaluate these disciplines in view of their application possibilities and requirements in theory and practice. Subject and professional competence: The students acquire indispensable basic knowledge of theory construction in Speech and Language Pathology, which is always interdisciplinary. They especially learn about pronunciation (respiration, phonation, articulation) and forms of dysarthria relevant to Speech and Language Pathology. Based on these principles, the students acquire knowledge of speech disorders in the context of learning disabilities and behavioural abnormalities.

	The students are introduced to school practice of the individual support focus areas of special-needs schools as well as to practice and special educational organisation of the individual subjects at an early stage. After a period of classroom observation, the students plan their own classes, implement special educational support measures and make multiple teaching attempts. Furthermore, they take on the following tasks: Knowledge of special educational tasks and goals of the curriculum for the individual grades of the respective form of special-needs school including support in preschool institutions; mobile special education assistance (msH) and mobile special education services (MSD), classroom observations regarding different approaches to achieve learning goals as well as regarding media use and possibilities of monitoring learning progress, determination of special educational needs of individual children and formulation of diagnosis-oriented education plans; knowledge of possibilities of individual support in the context of pedagogy and psychology.

Intended learning outcomes

Self- and social competence: The students are able to discuss and evaluate their own and other students' teaching plans and attempts in a methodological and critical manner. They make own teaching attempts to test themselves as teachers and therefore develop pedagogical competencies and learn to critically evaluate their own pedagogical actions. Methodological competence: The students are able to independently plan long-term or medium-term lesson stages and to plan, carry out and critically evaluate classes according to technical, subject-didactic, general and special educational criteria, especially criteria of Education for People with Emotional and Behavioural Disorders. Subject and professional competence: In the lectures on didactics, the students have acquired knowledge of general didactics, instructional psychology and didactic approaches and methods of Education for People with Emotional and Behavioural Disorders. They utilize these competencies to plan, conduct and evaluate teaching attempts.
