Course types: \(E\) = field trip, \(K\) = colloquium, \(O\) = conversatorium, \(P\) = placement/lab course, \(R\) = project, \(S\) = seminar, \(T\) = tutorial, \(Ü\) = exercise, \(V\) = lecture

Term: \(SS\) = summer semester, \(WS\) = winter semester

Methods of grading: \(NUM\) = numerical grade, \(B/NB\) = (not) successfully completed

Regulations: \((L)ASPO\) = general academic and examination regulations (for teaching-degree programmes), \(FSB\) = subject-specific provisions, \(SFB\) = list of modules

Other: \(A\) = thesis, \(LV\) = course(s), \(PL\) = assessment(s), \(TN\) = participants, \(VL\) = prerequisite(s)

Conventions

Unless otherwise stated, courses and assessments will be held in German, assessments will be offered every semester and modules are not creditable for bonus.

Notes

Should there be the option to choose between several methods of assessment, the lecturer will agree with the module coordinator on the method of assessment to be used in the current semester by two weeks after the start of the course at the latest and will communicate this in the customary manner.

Should the module comprise more than one graded assessment, all assessments will be equally weighted, unless otherwise stated below.

Should the assessment comprise several individual assessments, successful completion of the module will require successful completion of all individual assessments.

In accordance with the general regulations governing the degree subject described in this module catalogue:

\(LASPO2015\)

associated official publications (FSB (subject-specific provisions)/SFB (list of modules)):

\(17\text{-Nov}\text{-2015 (2015-237)}\)

This module handbook seeks to render, as accurately as possible, the data that is of statutory relevance according to the examination regulations of the degree subject. However, only the FSB (subject-specific provisions) and SFB (list of modules) in their officially published versions shall be legally binding. In the case of doubt, the provisions on, in particular, module assessments specified in the FSB/SFB shall prevail.

Contents

Based on the subject area of Special Education, this module shows the connections between its history, theories, institutions and disciplines. Furthermore, it gives an overview of the various and complex fields of action of preschool, school and extracurricular special educational practice.

Intended learning outcomes

This module provides an overview of the theoretical knowledge of the degree subject. Knowledge regarding special educational practice on different levels.

Contents
We discuss early theoretical concepts and their development or modification (for example Georgens/Deinhardt) in the context of current theories (for example WHO, inclusion) as well as their effects on scientific research. We examine society's attitude towards disabilities and the development of individual and social identity in the context of disabilities (possibly in the context of specific types of disability). Furthermore, we talk about possibilities of social empathy and ways of improvement as well as aspects of attitude change.

Intended learning outcomes
Advanced knowledge of specific theoretical concepts, reflection competence in the context of disabilities and society, increasing problem awareness in the context of disabilities (possibly with a specific focus).

Special Education as an academic discipline; subject and purpose of science and scientficity, scientific methods and systems, central and selected scientific-theoretical theories and methods of knowledge acquisition (especially: empirical-analytical approach, critical rationalism, phenomenology, hermeneutics, critical theory, constructivism and systems theory) as well as principles of scientific work -- also based on specific problems and topics of special educational theory, empirical research and practice.

Intended learning outcomes
The students are able to examine special educational problems in view of different scientific positions and perspectives (professional and methodological competence). They have advanced their basic knowledge of scientific theory on their own or in small groups (social, methodological and professional competence). By applying different learning techniques, the students extend their knowledge of scientific theory and learn to conduct systematic and methodological research; they are able to independently conduct and evaluate small scientific projects (methodological, social and self-competence).

Contents

Basic perspectives for the explanation of behavioural disorders; key and selected psychological and sociological approaches to the explanation of behavioural disorders in view of medico-biological aspects; key and selected phenomena in the context of behavioural disorders; introduction to scientific work.

Intended learning outcomes

The students are able to apply basic knowledge to achieve a differentiated understanding of behavioural disorders, also in view of specific explanation concepts and specific selected problems (professional competence, self-competence). This knowledge enables them to classify and understand behavioural disorders in children and juveniles and to develop first ideas for dealing with behavioural disorders (professional competence, self-competence, methodological competence). The students have basic knowledge and skills in acquiring, selecting and processing information in the context of scientific work; they can apply their knowledge and skills to the utilization of study group resources (professional competence, methodological competence, social competence).

Contents:
Overview of key and special phenomena of behavioural abnormalities; discussion of selected phenomena regarding manifestations, diagnostics and differential diagnostics, explanatory approaches (also: complexity of influencing factors) and especially regarding starting points, guidelines and concepts of pedagogical, therapeutic-pedagogical, psychosocial and psychotherapeutic prevention and intervention; overview of relevant support concepts in view of behavioural abnormalities; overview of the institutions relevant to Education for People with Emotional and Behavioural Disorders.

Intended learning outcomes:
The examination of phenomena and their backgrounds promotes the students' professional competence: They are able to recognize and evaluate problems in the context of behavioural disorders. At the same time, their methodological competencies are fostered: They can choose approaches and concepts according to practical problems and institutional contexts. In the practical parts of the module, the students advance their social competence of problem solving. They further develop self-competence by gaining confidence in dealing with behavioural abnormalities in pedagogical contexts and by increasing the ability to judge their own possibilities and limits in this area.

Social and institutional framework conditions of educational assistance in school and of the support focus area emotional and social development; support of emotional and social competencies in class; basic elements of didactic action: pedagogical relations, building of teacher-student relationships, strengthening of the student's personality, learning in the context of didactics for people with emotional and behavioural disorders; elements of "good teaching", specific clinical pictures and individual problem-situations as well as their consequences for the people affected, conflict situations in class -- causes and intervention possibilities, significance of the role and personality of a teacher, teacher-student interactions in the context of behavioural disorders; didactic theories, also in view of their suitability for Education for People with Emotional and Behavioural Disorders.

Intended learning outcomes
The students are able to discuss social and institutional framework conditions (professional competence). They know the special importance of learning (methodological competence). They are able to identify specific clinical pictures and individual problems and can estimate the consequences for the people affected. They know the basic elements of didactic action and "good teaching" (e.g. supporting the student's personality). They are able to put these elements into practice (methodological competence). They can provide suitable didactic learning programmes for people with emotional and behavioural disorders and can control learning processes. They can analyse conflict situations in class and identify coping strategies and are able to critically evaluate their own role and personality as a teacher (social and self-competence).

Contents

Examination and analysis of general and specific concepts of teaching people with behavioural disorders, also in the range of pedagogic-didactic and therapeutic-pedagogical concepts; utilisation of subject-didactic and technical knowledge and skills to implement didactic action in the support focus area.

Intended learning outcomes

Professional competence: The students can critically discuss didactic theories. They can establish and evaluate interdisciplinary connections between these theories and other sciences. They are able to evaluate research results and contents in view of the future occupational field and can evaluate their relevance for didactics for people with emotional and behavioural disorders. Methodological competence: The students acquire subject-didactic and technical knowledge and skills and are able to apply these. Self- and social competence: The students can apply concepts of planning, implementing, evaluating and observing classes.

Contents
The students collect information on the current state of research and theory of didactics in the context of behavioural disorders and examine this information on the basis of specific goals and questions. Their studies might result in an empirical study, the development of a theory-oriented concept, the development of teaching sequences, an exemplary, evaluation-based application in class, a reader or journal article etc. A cooperation with a practice institution is also possible.

Intended learning outcomes
By closely studying the contents of a didactic project, the students have acquired general and specific knowledge of didactic questions (professional competence) and are able to find own approaches to scientific questions; they are acquainted with possibilities of theoretical and empirical data research (methodological competence). They are able to review complex problems in group work whilst sticking to a self-developed work plan in a target-oriented manner (social competence). They can independently plan and complete the execution of a complex task in a project-oriented manner.

Psychology as a basis for special educational action; introduction to Special Education and especially to Education for People with Emotional and Behavioural Disorders; relevant aspects of psychological subdisciplines: especially psychology of learning, personality psychology, clinical psychology, diagnostic psychology and social psychology as well as motivation and emotion; in-depth study of selected individual topics.

Intended learning outcomes

The students can apply psychological knowledge to special educational contexts (professional and methodological competence). Furthermore, they have acquired the competence to apply this knowledge to their own actions in social contexts (initiated social competence). They have learned to independently improve their psychological knowledge and are able to utilize it to evaluate their own personality and actions (self-competence).

Diagnostic tasks in the context of behavioural disorders; basic diagnostic approaches to assessment and judgement (person, situation, interaction, perception); approaches and diagnostic techniques in the context of behavioural disorders, especially anamnesis and conversation, behavioural observation, questionnaire methods, test methods, projective methods, sociometric methods, situation analysis and analysis of action regulation; drawing up of medical reports including proposals for support.

Intended learning outcomes

The students know and are able to apply different methods of evaluating behavioural disorders. Their knowledge of various relevant diagnostic procedures enables them to choose a suitable one (professional competence, methodological competence). They are able to deal with diagnostic tasks in a critical manner (professional competence, self-competence). They have acquired basic skills in carrying out a special educational assessment regarding behavioural disorders. They are able to develop proposals for support on the basis of diagnostic findings (professional competence, methodological competence). They are able to constructively discuss diagnostic questions in a team, choose approaches and find solutions (social competence).

Principles of counselling in the context of behavioural disorders: Framework conditions of professional counselling in the context of behavioural disorders, qualifications of the counsellor regarding behavioural disorders, basic knowledge of subject-specific counselling: disorder-specific counselling, support systems for school and extracurricular problems in the context of behavioural disorders; counselling in theory and practice. Communication models, conversation techniques, theory and practice of at least one counselling approach; guidance of students during their work placement in a school that focuses on supporting emotional and social development or possibly in a regular school with pupils with special educational needs in the area of emotional and social development, specific questions during the work placement in a school that focuses on supporting emotional and social development or possibly in a regular school with integrated pupils with special educational needs in the area of emotional and social development.

Intended learning outcomes

The students have advanced their professional competence by acquiring profound basic skills and knowledge of counselling in the context of behavioural disorders. They have advanced their methodological and self-competence by testing a counselling method in practice and analysing their own behaviour on the basis of the counselling model. Furthermore, they are skilled in evaluating self- and external perception during counselling. By working in various social forms (partner work, group work, etc.) and reflecting different contents, situations and processes in the group, the students' social competence is promoted.

Contents
After collecting information on the state of research and theory of a selected topic of pedagogy and/or psychology, the students independently examine this topic on the basis of specific goals and questions and carry out a sub-project with a specific result. This might result in an empirical study, the development of a theory-oriented concept, the development of a pedagogical or therapeutic-pedagogical concept, an exemplary, evaluation-based application in class, the writing of a reader or journal article etc. A cooperation with a practice institution is also possible. The content as well as the result of the project is supposed to consist of a report in the form of a project study. The contents of the module are related to the module 06-V-ProjPPA.

Intended learning outcomes
The students know and are able to apply approaches to scientific questions (professional and methodological competence); they have advanced problem-specific knowledge of pedagogical questions and psychological perspectives regarding behavioural disorders (professional competence); they know possibilities of theoretical and empirical data research (methodological competence); they are able to review complex problems in group work whilst sticking to a self-developed work plan in a target-oriented manner (social competence); they independently execute a complex task over a longer period of time with a high level of self-learning (self-competence).

Knowledge of the historical development of Speech and Language Pathology; advanced knowledge of the pre-conditions of language and speech; principles of language acquisition and theories; introduction to the main clinical pictures of language and speech in the context of learning disabilities and behavioural abnormalities

Self- and social competence: The students concentrate on studying contents of Speech and Language Pathology and neighbouring disciplines. Methodological competence: The students methodically acquire professional knowledge of Speech and Language Pathology and neighbouring disciplines and critically evaluate these disciplines in view of their application possibilities and requirements in theory and practice. Subject and professional competence: The students acquire indispensable basic knowledge of theory construction in Speech and Language Pathology, which is always interdisciplinary. They especially learn about pronunciation (respiration, phonation, articulation) and forms of dysarthria relevant to Speech and Language Pathology. Based on these principles, the students acquire knowledge of speech disorders in the context of learning disabilities and behavioural abnormalities.

Contents
The students are introduced to school practice of the individual support focus areas of special-needs schools as well as to practice and special educational organisation of the individual subjects at an early stage. After a period of classroom observation, the students plan their own classes, implement special educational support measures and make multiple teaching attempts. Furthermore, they take on the following tasks: Knowledge of special educational tasks and goals of the curriculum for the individual grades of the respective form of special-needs school including support in preschool institutions; mobile special education assistance (msH) and mobile special education services (MSD), classroom observations regarding different approaches to achieve learning goals as well as regarding media use and possibilities of monitoring learning progress, determination of special educational needs of individual children and formulation of diagnosis-oriented education plans; knowledge of possibilities of individual support in the context of pedagogy and psychology.

Intended learning outcomes
Self- and social competence: The students are able to discuss and evaluate their own and other students' teaching plans and attempts in a methodological and critical manner. They make own teaching attempts to test themselves as teachers and therefore develop pedagogical competencies and learn to critically evaluate their own pedagogical actions. Methodological competence: The students are able to independently plan long-term or medium-term lesson stages and to plan, carry out and critically evaluate classes according to technical, subject-didactic, general and special educational criteria, especially criteria of Education for People with Emotional and Behavioural Disorders. Subject and professional competence: In the lectures on didactics, the students have acquired knowledge of general didactics, instructional psychology and didactic approaches and methods of Education for People with Emotional and Behavioural Disorders. They utilize these competencies to plan, conduct and evaluate teaching attempts.

Duration
1 semester

Module level
graduate

Contents
The students collect information on the basic as well as issue-specific state of research and theory of a selected topic of pedagogy and/or psychology in the context of behavioural disorders. They examine this topic on the basis of specific goals and questions while acquiring the corresponding methods. This might result in an empirical study, the development of a theory-oriented concept, the development of a pedagogical or therapeutic pedagogical concept, an exemplary, evaluation-based application in class, the writing of a reader or journal article etc. A cooperation with a practice institution is also possible. The contents of the module are related to the module 06-V-ProjPPH.

Intended learning outcomes
The students know and are able to apply approaches to scientific questions (professional and methodological competence); they have advanced problem-specific knowledge of pedagogical questions and psychological perspectives regarding behavioural disorders (professional competence); they know possibilities of theoretical and empirical data research (methodological competence); they are able to review complex problems in group work whilst sticking to a self-developed work plan in a target-oriented manner (social competence); they independently execute a complex task over a longer period of time with a high level of self-learning (self-competence).

Duration

Content
Selected problems of Education for People with Emotional and Behavioral Disorders, group processes and processes of social learning, violence prevention, intercultural competencies in working with families with a migrant background, alternating prioritisation under the guidance of subject specialists, pedagogical support for children and juveniles from deprived areas; gender- and age-homogeneous youth group work; interest-specific group work with children and juveniles

Intended learning outcomes
The students can independently plan, organise and hold group sessions and are able to apply legal basics such as duty of supervision in practice. They are able to work in a team and acquire leadership skills by independently cooperating with fellow students and by communicating with children and their families (self- and social competence). By combining theory and practice, the students are able to critically evaluate pedagogical theories and learn to scrutinise their own actions.
