Contents
This module stresses the close connection of education and teaching in the context of an educational science of emotional and behavioural disorders. Based on the specific life and learning situations of pupils with emotional and behavioural disorders including mental disorders, action plans including educational and instructional support are discussed and related to each other; possibilities and limits concerning concepts of facilitation as well as specific trainings are also introduced and their integration in fundamental educational efforts is being reflected. With regard to an inclusive school development and corresponding tasks questions of dealing with heterogeneity are raised. These aspects are framed by the analysis of general as well as specific teaching concepts for the context of emotional and behavioural disorders.
Intended learning outcomes
The students have developed a differentiated understanding of the close connection between education and teaching in the context of the educational science of emotional and behavioural disorders (professional competence, self competence). They are able to evaluate action plans of educational and instructional support and compare them with each other (professional competence, methodological competence). The students have developed competencies to reflect and assess the possibilities of concepts of facilitation and specific trainings (professional competence, methodological competence). They are able to transfer their knowledge to an inclusive school development and corresponding tasks (professional competence, methodological competence). They have differentiated knowledge of general and specific teaching concepts for the context of emotional and behavioural disorders and they are able to relate them to each other and transfer them to their later teaching (professional competence, self competence, methodological competence).

The students are introduced to school practice of the individual support focus areas of special-needs schools as well as to practice and special educational organisation of the individual subjects at an early stage. After a period of classroom observation, the students plan their own classes, implement special educational support measures and make multiple teaching attempts. Furthermore, they take on the following tasks: Knowledge of special educational tasks and goals of the curriculum for the individual grades of the respective form of special-needs school including support in preschool institutions; mobile special education assistance (msH) and mobile special education services (MSD), classroom observations regarding different approaches to achieve learning goals as well as regarding media use and possibilities of monitoring learning progress, determination of special educational needs of individual pupils and formulation of diagnosis-oriented education plans; knowledge of possibilities of individual support in the context of pedagogy and psychology.
Intended learning outcomes
Self- and social competence: The students are able to discuss and evaluate their own and other students' teaching plans and attempts in a methodological and critical manner. They make own teaching attempts to test themselves as teachers and therefore develop pedagogical competencies and learn to critically evaluate their own pedagogical actions. Methodological competence: The students are able to independently plan long-term or medium-term lesson stages and to plan, carry out and critically evaluate classes according to technical, subject-didactic, general and special educational criteria, especially criteria of Education for People with Emotional and Behavioural Disorders. Subject and professional competence: In the lectures on didactics, the students have acquired knowledge of general didactics, instructional psychology and didactic approaches and methods of Education for People with Emotional and Behavioural Disorders. They utilize these competencies to plan, conduct and evaluate teaching attempts.

Contents
Principles and theories of intercultural competence, acquisition of basic terms, intercultural communication and conflicts (in theory and practice), intercultural competence training, multifactorial backgrounds of "migration-induced behavioural abnormalities", prevention and intervention measures against racism and xenophobia.
Intended learning outcomes
The students have basic knowledge of intercultural action and can independently apply theoretical principles of multicultural work in a reflected manner. In doing so, the students develop awareness of the effects of social changes and framework conditions on migrants and of interpersonal relationships and professional work in heterogeneous, intercultural fields of action.
