In this module we discuss central principles of movement science and training science and establish connections to sports practice. In this way, the students acquire scientific knowledge about movement and sports. The seminars elaborate on the topics from the lecture and discuss consequences and implementation possibilities whilst taking into account aspects of movement science. We focus on acquiring and extending movement and perception competencies in various settings (open-air areas, gyms) and on examining basic teaching/learning conceptions for movement fields for individuals (running-jumping-throwing) and movement fields for teams (target kicking/target throwing games).
Intended learning outcomes
The students have essential professional skills in sports biology and training sciences and are able to establish connections to sports practice. By examining and comparing central terms, concepts and methods of different movement fields, training goals and target groups, they have acquired differentiated methodological competencies. Furthermore, the students have basic pedagogical and motor competencies in the field of running-jumping-throwing (athletics) and in big physical education games (soccer and basketball).
