Anhand exemplarischer Beispiele werden literatur- und/ oder sprachwissenschaftliche Lektüre- und Methodenkompetenzen vertieft. Die Kurse bieten eine Einführung in und kritische Beschäftigung mit aktuellen Forschungsfragen. In den sprachhistorischen Kursen werden die verschiedenen strukturellen Beschreibungsebenen des Englischen (Phonologie, Morphologie, Syntax, Wortschatz) vorgestellt, die Veränderung der Sprache im sozio-historischen Kontext diskutiert und die Merkmale des heutigen Englisch auf die historische Entwicklung zurückgeführt. Alternativ werden Seminare auf fortgeschrittenem Niveau zu einem aktuellen Forschungsbereich der historischen Sprachwissenschaft angeboten (z.B. historische Soziolinguistik, historische Pragmatik, Shakespeare's English), wobei insbesondere auf neuere Forschung in diesen Bereichen zur englischen Sprache im Mittelalter bzw. der Frühen Neuzeit eingegangen wird. In den literaturwissenschaftlichen Kursen werden anhand von Themenkomplexen (z.B. Witchcraft on the Early Modern Stage; Early Modern Cultural Encounters; Literature and Religion) oder zentralen Autoren und ihrem Werk (z.B. Shakespeare and Memory; Ben Jonson and the City) die Formen und Funktionen literarischer Texte sowie ihre Bezüge zu gesellschafts- und kulturhistorischen Kontexten vor allem in der frühen Neuzeit erarbeitet. Dabei werden besonders aktuelle Entwicklungen in der Forschung berücksichtigt. Angeboten werden auf fortgeschrittenem Niveau Überblicks- und Spezialisierungsseminare zur Geschichte und Entwicklung der englischen Sprache und Literatur, in denen die Studierenden für ihre Forschung einen Schwerpunkt im Bereich Mittelalter oder Frühe Neuzeit wählen können. | German contents available but not translated yet. Angeboten werden auf fortgeschrittenem Niveau Überblicks- und Spezialisierungsseminare zur Geschichte und Entwicklung der englischen Sprache und Literatur, in denen die Studierenden für ihre Forschung einen Schwerpunkt im Bereich Mittelalter oder Frühe Neuzeit wählen können. Anhand exemplarischer Beispiele werden literatur- und/ oder sprachwissenschaftliche Lektüre- und Methodenkompetenzen vertieft. Die Kurse bieten eine Einführung in und kritische Beschäftigung mit aktuellen Forschungsfragen. In den sprachhistorischen Kursen werden die verschiedenen strukturellen Beschreibungsebenen des Englischen (Phonologie, Morphologie, Syntax, Wortschatz) vorgestellt, die Veränderung der Sprache im sozio-historischen Kontext diskutiert und die Merkmale des heutigen Englisch auf die historische Entwicklung zurückgeführt. Alternativ werden Seminare auf fortgeschrittenem Niveau zu einem aktuellen Forschungsbereich der historischen Sprachwissenschaft angeboten (z.B. historische Soziolinguistik, historische Pragmatik, Shakespeare's English), wobei insbesondere auf neuere Forschung in diesen Bereichen zur englischen Sprache im Mittelalter bzw. der Frühen Neuzeit eingegangen wird. In den literaturwissenschaftlichen Kursen werden anhand von Themenkomplexen (z.B. Witchcraft on the Early Modern Stage; Early Modern Cultural Encounters; Literature and Religion) oder zentralen Autoren und ihrem Werk (z.B. Shakespeare and Memory; Ben Jonson and the City) die Formen und Funktionen literarischer Texte sowie ihre Bezüge zu gesellschafts- und kulturhistorischen Kontexten vor allem in der frühen Neuzeit erarbeitet. Dabei werden besonders aktuelle Entwicklungen in der Forschung berücksichtigt. |                                                                                                                      |                                          |

Sie erwerben die Fähigkeit, die Ergebnisse ihrer Analyse in einen größeren sprach-, literatur- oder diskursgeschichtlichen Zusammenhang einzuordnen, sowie die Fähigkeit, die erworbenen Methoden- und Analysekompetenzen selbständig auf Texte des Mittelalters und der Frühen Neuzeit anzuwenden. Sie sind in der Lage, selbständig Ergebnisse ihrer Recherchearbeit auf fortgeschrittenem Niveau zu präsentieren (Referate und andere Darbietungsformen, Hausarbeiten und andere Verschriftlichungs- und Präsentationsformen) und unter Anleitung eigene Beiträge zur Forschung zu erarbeiten. In sprachhistorischen Kursen erweitern sie ihre Fähigkeit, sprachliche Phänomene des Englischen in ausgewählten sprachlichen Daten zu identifizieren und korrekt zu analysieren. In literaturwissenschaftlichen Kursen werden die Lektüre- und Analysekompetenz sowie die Kenntnis anspruchsvoller literarischer Texte über den zentralen Kanon hinaus erweitert.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                      |                                          |

| Angeboten werden auf fortgeschrittenem Niveau Überblicks- und Spezialisierungsseminare zur Geschichte und Entwicklung der englischen Sprache und Literatur, in denen die Studierenden für ihre Forschung einen Schwerpunkt im Bereich Mittelalter oder Frühe Neuzeit wählen können. Anhand exemplarischer Beispiele werden literatur- und/ oder sprachwissenschaftliche Lektüre- und Methodenkompetenzen vertieft. Die Kurse bieten eine Einführung in und kritische Beschäftigung mit aktuellen Forschungsfragen. In den sprachhistorischen Kursen werden die verschiedenen strukturellen Beschreibungsebenen des Englischen (Phonologie, Morphologie, Syntax, Wortschatz) vorgestellt, die Veränderung der Sprache im sozio-historischen Kontext diskutiert und die Merkmale des heutigen Englisch auf die historische Entwicklung zurückgeführt. Alternativ werden Seminare auf fortgeschrittenem Niveau zu einem aktuellen Forschungsbereich der historischen Sprachwissenschaft angeboten (z.B. historische Soziolinguistik, historische Pragmatik, Shakespeare's English), wobei insbesondere auf neuere Forschung in diesen Bereichen zur englischen Sprache im Mittelalter bzw. der Frühen Neuzeit eingegangen wird. In den literaturwissenschaftlichen Kursen werden anhand von Themenkomplexen (z.B. Witchcraft on the Early Modern Stage; Early Modern Cultural Encounters; Literature and Religion) oder zentralen Autoren und ihrem Werk (z.B. Shakespeare and Memory; Ben Jonson and the City) die Formen und Funktionen literarischer Texte sowie ihre Bezüge zu gesellschafts- und kulturhistorischen Kontexten vor allem in der frühen Neuzeit erarbeitet. Dabei werden besonders aktuelle Entwicklungen in der Forschung berücksichtigt. |                   |                                                                                                                      |                  |

| Die Studierenden erwerben vertieftes Methodenwissen in einem sprachhistorischen oder literaturgeschichtlichen Schwerpunkt und sind in der Lage, selbständig die grundlegende und aktuelle Forschung zum Thema zu rezipieren und kritisch zu beleuchten. Sie erwerben die Fähigkeit, die Ergebnisse ihrer Analyse in einen größeren sprach-, literatur- oder diskursgeschichtlichen Zusammenhang einzuordnen, sowie die Fähigkeit, die erworbenen Methoden- und Analysekompetenzen selbständig auf Texte des Mittelalters und der Frühen Neuzeit anzuwenden. Sie sind in der Lage, selbständig Ergebnisse ihrer Recherchearbeit auf fortgeschrittenem Niveau zu präsentieren (Referate und andere Darbietungsformen, Hausarbeiten und andere Verschriftlichungs- und Präsentationsformen) und unter Anleitung eigene Beiträge zur Forschung zu erarbeiten. In sprachhistorischen Kursen erweitern sie ihre Fähigkeit, sprachliche Phänomene des Englischen in ausgewählten sprachlichen Daten zu identifizieren und korrekt zu analysieren. | Students are acquainted with different literary and/or linguistic methods and analytical concepts confidently and know, how to apply these skills to medieval texts and texts of Early Modern Age independently. They will acquire the ability to classify the results of their independent analysis in a bigger linguistic, literary or discourse-historical context as well as the ability to deal independently with basic and current issues of research of the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Age and to present these issues independently (research works, presentations and other methods, seminar papers and other textualisation and presentation types). They are familiar with methods of the self-organisation and time management and are able to compile individual articles for research under tutelage. |                                                                                                                      |                                      |

| Students are acquainted with different literary and/or linguistic methods and analytical concepts confidently and know, how to apply these skills to medieval texts and texts of Early Modern Age independently. They will acquire the ability to classify the results of their independent analysis in a bigger linguistic, literary or discourse-historical context as well as the ability to deal independently with basic and current issues of research of the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Age and to present these issues independently (research works, presentations and other methods, seminar papers and other textualisation and presentation types). They are familiar with methods of the self-organisation and time management and are able to compile individual articles for research under tutelage. |                   |                                                                                                                      |                  |

| Students are acquainted with different literary and/or linguistic methods and analytical concepts confidently and know, how to apply these skills to medieval texts and texts of Early Modern Age independently. They will acquire the ability to classify the results of their independent analysis in a bigger linguistic, literary or discourse-historical context as well as the ability to deal independently with basic and current issues of research of the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Age and to present these issues independently (research works, presentations and other methods, seminar papers and other textualisation and presentation types). They are familiar with methods of the self-organisation and time management and are able to compile individual articles for research under tutelage. |                   |                                                                                                                      |                  |

| Students are acquainted with different topics and methods of research in the field of the Middle Ages and Early Modern Age; They will acquire the ability to deal independently with basic and current issues of research of the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Age and to present these issues independently (research works, presentations and other methods, seminar papers and other textualisation and presentation types). They are familiar with methods of the self-organisation and time management and are able to analyze current research topics and compile individual articles for research under tutelage. |                   |                                           |                  |

| Students are acquainted with different topics and methods of research in the field of the Middle Ages and Early Modern Age; They will acquire the ability to deal independently with basic and current issues of research of the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Age and to present these issues independently (research works, presentations and other methods, seminar papers and other textualisation and presentation types). They are familiar with methods of the self-organisation and time management and are able to analyze current research topics and compile individual articles for research under tutelage. |                   |                                           |                  |

| Students know the requirements of a vocational field and scope of activity. They possess practical experiences of everyday work and are able to compare these experiences with the own expectations reflectively.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                              |                                           |

| This module focuses on consolidating students' knowledge of medieval history and giving students an opportunity to independently apply this knowledge, employ the methods of the discipline, and use relevant forms of presentation. Discussing selected examples, the module consolidates students' previous knowledge of medieval history. Problems in medieval history are explored in both source-based and research-oriented courses. Problems in cultural, social, structural, and economic history, the history of society, and the history of mentalities as well as interdisciplinary problems are also considered. |                   |                                        |

| Students are able to familiarise themselves with more complex issues, employing the methods of the discipline and taking into account relevant source material and secondary literature as well as the findings of related disciplines. They are able to independently analyse and interpret sources and accounts of medieval history.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                   |                                        |

| This module focuses on consolidating students' knowledge of historical auxiliary sciences and giving students an opportunity to independently apply this knowledge, employ the methods of the disciplines, and use relevant forms of presentation. Discussing selected examples, the module consolidates students' previous knowledge of historical auxiliary sciences. Problems in historical auxiliary sciences are explored in both source-based and research-oriented courses. Problems in cultural, social, structural, and economic history, the history of society, and the history of mentalities as well as interdisciplinary problems are also considered. |                   |                                        |

| Students are able to familiarise themselves with more complex issues, employing the methods of the discipline and taking into account relevant source material and secondary literature as well as the findings of related disciplines. They are able to independently analyse and interpret sources and accounts of medieval history.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                   |                                        |

| This module focuses on consolidating students' knowledge of medieval history and giving students an opportunity to independently apply this knowledge, employ the methods of the discipline, and use relevant forms of presentation. Discussing selected examples, the module consolidates students' previous knowledge of medieval history. Problems in medieval history are explored in both source-based and research-oriented courses. Problems in cultural, social, structural, and economic history, the history of society, and the history of mentalities as well as interdisciplinary problems are also considered. |                   |                                        |

| Students are able to familiarise themselves with more complex issues, employing the methods of the discipline and taking into account relevant source material and secondary literature as well as the findings of related disciplines. They are able to independently analyse and interpret sources and accounts of medieval history.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                   |                                        |

| In this module, the sources, musical testimonies and cultural-historical conditions of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages (around 1420) and their music-historiographical interpretation are studied. The focus is on phenomena and historical processes in the field of music and musical thinking. Using significant examples, specific methods of the Humanities (such as philological, descriptive, comparative and analytical working methods) and of speaking about music (such as specialist terminology and use of metaphor) are taught, reflected and practised. |                   |                                      |

| The student has a sound knowledge of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages, its sources and its phenomena. He/she is able to classify them reflectively into historical contexts. He/she is familiar with key problems of music historical research within this period. On this basis, he/she is able to present and interpret music-historical phenomena independently, sophisticatedly and method-consciously.                                                                                                                                                             |                   |                                      |

| In this module, the sources, musical testimonies and cultural-historical conditions of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages (around 1420) and their music-historiographical interpretation are studied. The focus is on phenomena and historical processes in the field of music and musical thinking. Using significant examples, specific methods of the Humanities (such as philological, descriptive, comparative and analytical working methods) and of speaking about music (such as specialist terminology and use of metaphor) are taught, reflected and practised. |                   |                                      |

| The student has a sound knowledge of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages, its sources and its phenomena. He/she is able to classify them reflectively into historical contexts. He/she is familiar with key problems of music historical research within this period. On this basis, he/she is able to present and interpret music-historical phenomena independently, sophisticatedly and method-consciously.                                                                                                                                                             |                   |                                      |

| In this module, the sources, musical testimonies and cultural-historical conditions of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages (around 1420) and their music-historiographical interpretation are studied. The focus is on phenomena and historical processes in the field of music and musical thinking. Using significant examples, specific methods of the Humanities (such as philological, descriptive, comparative and analytical working methods) and of speaking about music (such as specialist terminology and use of metaphor) are taught, reflected and practised. |                   |                                      |

| The student has a sound knowledge of European music history from antiquity to the end of the Middle Ages, its sources and its phenomena. He/she is able to classify them reflectively into historical contexts. He/she is familiar with key problems of music historical research within this period. On this basis, he/she is able to present and interpret music-historical phenomena independently, sophisticatedly and method-consciously.                                                                                                                                                             |                   |                                      |
