for the Subject
Protestant Theology
as a minor in a Bachelor's degree programme
(60 ECTS credits)

Examination regulations version: 2009
Responsible: Faculty of Human Sciences
Responsible: Institute of Protestant Theology and Religious Education

Course of Studies - Contents and Objectives

The BA degree program in Protestant Theology is designed as a first professional qualification and teaches in-depth knowledge of Protestant Theology and its disciplines: Old Testament, New Testament, Church History, Systematic Theology, Doctrine, Ethics, Religious Education, and Religious Studies. Furthermore, the program aims to foster competence in dealing responsibly with the acquired knowledge. It prepares students to embrace and fulfill the multifaceted requirements of later working life and to complete tasks independently. Students develop key transferable skills in critical analysis, argumentation and communication that are indispensable in a wide variety of occupations, and they learn to represent independent, supra-individual and well-founded positions. The main occupational focus of Würzburg's BA program lies in the formation of a (supra-individual) personality that enables students to deal professionally in a dialogue initiating and goal-oriented way with topics of all social and cultural trouble spots that pertain to religion in the broadest sense. The formation of a supra-individual personality is achieved mainly through acquiring subject-specific theological knowledge and learning to form sound judgment. At the completion of the program and with the Bachelor's thesis the candidate has to prove his or her ability to overview fundamental questions in a wider context, his or her skills to apply scientific methods appropriately, and in how far prescribed educational objectives were reached.

Correct version: This course aims to consolidate the students' theological thinking, expression, and writing skills on the basis of current debates and important texts. [Version 1: Writing a Bachelor's thesis in accordance with the principles of good scholarly practice.] [Version 2: Biblical theology. Grounding in the texts of the Old Testament, their connection, meaning in a historical context, and introduction to the exegetical methods.]
Intended learning outcomes
At the end of the course, students will have developed a comprehensive knowledge of systematic theology. They will be able to recognise topics in their complex interrelations with all other topics in theology - in particular theories of religion - and to describe them orally and in writing. Students will have adopted a supra-individual position on all topics based on a sharpened awareness of problems and sound arguments. They will be able to interpret topics in theology within the context of current social problems and discuss potential solutions.

Christianity - its origins and its development through the ages. Knowledge of key texts of the New Testament, their connection, meaning in a historical context, and introduction to the exegetical methods. Exploring a selected topos or an epoch in the history of Christianity, the course consolidates the students' competence in the area of church history. The main focus is on Reformation and modernity as the central pillars from which sources focused on the history of the church will be read.
Intended learning outcomes
At the end of the course, students will be familiar with essential concepts of New Testament theology. They will be able to understand and interpret the content of key texts and to interrelate them with other texts. They will have developed the ability to situate issues within a historical context in a problem-orientated manner. In addition, they will have developed the ability to verbally express this knowledge in an appropriate manner. Students will also have developed an awareness of the historical development of Christianity as well as the changes and transformations it has undergone on the basis of present-day realities.
