| Introduction to literary studies. Students can choose between the introduction to English or American literary studies. English literary studies provide students with the basics of literary theory and literary studies methodology as well as with basic knowledge of the literary history of the British Isles. Moreover, students will gain insights into new anglophone literatures. In order to apply these skills, students will practise the analysis and interpretation of selected texts of all literary genres from the early modern era up to the present. American studies introduce students to the techniques of literary interpretation as well as to central literary theories and methods by dealing with US-American literature of all literary genres. |  |  |  |  |
| Intended learning outcomes |  |  |  |  |
| Students are provided with basic knowledge and methodologies of literary studies, with the ability to apply literary theories and methods to literary texts and with basic knowledge of historical backgrounds and developments. After successful completion of the module, students are able to analyse, understand and evaluate literary and literary-historical phenomena with the terminology of English or American literary studies. |  |  |  |  |

| In this module, students are expected to prepare for their Bachelor's thesis. Objective is a solid development of a literary or cultural science-based issue, taking into account the current state of research. The Bachelor's thesis proves that students are able to develop hypotheses and to verify them on the basis of textual or visual objects, based on a specialist issue. |  |  |  |  |
| Intended learning outcomes |  |  |  |  |
| Students learn to understand and present the state of research concerning an issue as well as to develop and ar gumentatively present an own issue on this basis. They train their skills of researching research ideas, present them in writing and critically refer to them. |  |  |  |  |

| The course provides students of all semesters with the ability to create literary texts in the English and German language autonomously. Dialogically structured and thematically instructed sessions provide the possibility to discuss and improve own texts and to be able to gain theoretical as well as practical insights into the everyday workshop of creative writing. Under methodological supervision, writing exercises will facilitate a performative access to linguistic expression and will motivate students to form their own aesthetic idiom. |  |  |  |  |
| Intended learning outcomes |  |  |  |  |
| Students acquire basic knowledge of aesthetic construction regarding literary texts (poetry, prose, drama) as well as basics concerning the significance of a reading-orientated practice of literary writing. The self-confidence concerning their own skills of writing structured texts will be increased. |  |  |  |  |

On the basis of contemporary literature, the module covers the history and development of the English language from its beginning in the fifth century up to modern times. Next to the linguistic description of earlier language levels (Old English, Middle English and Early Modern English) regarding phonology, morphology, syntax and vocabulary, the change of the language is discussed in its socio-historical context and the characteristics of Pre-sent-day English are ascribed to the historical development.

Intended learning outcomes

After successful completion of the module, students are able to:
(a) identify, classify and compare linguistic structures in different language levels;
(b) understand and explain the structure of present-day English against the background of the historical development;
(c) translate medieval and early modern texts and classify them into their historical and cultural context;
(d) understand the mechanisms of language change and the complex interaction of linguistic and extralinguistic factors as well as apply this knowledge to recent developments in the English language.
