Course of Studies - Contents and Objectives

Graduates acquire a professional and scientific qualification via a framework of a multifaceted and variable curricular. This enables them to respond to the demands of the labour market in different professional fields of pedagogical work: schools, extracurricular youth work, adult learning and early childhood education. Furthermore they have gained fundamental knowledge in one of the following branches of study: education for learning disabilities, or education for physical disabilities, or speech and language pathology, or education for developmental and intellectual disabilities, or education for emotional and behavioral disorders. All of these include specific educational basics, teaching and educational methods as well as psychological aspects of these scientific subjects. They are able to reflect different pedagogical theories in their respective systematic, historical and socio-cultural contexts and are proficient in the design and execution of qualitative and quantitative research projects. In addition to this graduates possess the ability to make reference to socio-political discourses. They demonstrate outstanding ability to become acquainted with the complexity of different thematic fields and to methodically conceive and organize them in a way that enables the creation of didactical arrangements of teaching and learning. This acquired professional knowledge, competences and methodologies qualifies graduates for scientific work and for the critical reflection of scientific knowledge/results at a high academic level.

Abbreviations used

Course types: E = field trip, K = colloquium, O = conversatorium, P = placement/lab course, R = project, S = seminar, T = tutorial, Ü = exercise, V = lecture

General aspects of prenatal development and birth, relevant information on early childhood development (cognitive, sensomotoric and socio-emotional development), aetiology (risk factors) and symptomatology of disorders in early childhood development; milestones of pre-linguistic and early linguistic development, risk factors for language acquisition disorders, identification of early indicators and diagnostic possibilities, term definition and definition of prevention and early intervention, concepts of prevention and approaches to early intervention in the field of language
Intended learning outcomes
Self- and social competence: The students have worked in groups to advance their knowledge of the module's relevant topics. In doing so, they have advanced their knowledge of contents and have learned to discuss them during the seminar. Methodological competence: The students are able to critically examine scientific studies on pre-linguistic and early linguistic development. They become acquainted with computer-based analysis of pre-linguistic and first vocal utterances. Subject and professional skills: The students have knowledge of general pre- and postnatal development (especially aetiology and risk factors, symptomatology) and of pre-linguistic and early linguistic development. Furthermore, they are able to find connections between language acquisition and other (cognitive, sensomotoric and socio-emotional) areas of early childhood development. The students advance their professional competencies regarding diagnostics and possibilities of early intervention in Speech and Language Pathology.

Theoretical basics of integration and acculturation of people with a migrant background as well as biculturally socialised children and juveniles, introduction of multicultural fields of practice and action, especially those relevant to pedagogy, e.g. intercultural education in educational and extracurricular institutions as well as intercultural counselling
The students are aware of potential migration-induced behavioural abnormalities as well as psychosocial stress reactions in migrants and are able to critically think, reflect and independently apply their knowledge in practice. Furthermore, they are able to apply and refine existing concepts.
Courses (type, number of weekly contact hours, language — if other than German)
S + S (no information on SWS (weekly contact hours) and course language available)
Method of assessment (type, scope, language — if other than German, examination offered — if not every semester, information on whether module can be chosen to earn a bonus)
a) term paper (approx. 12 pages) or b) presentation (approx. 20 minutes) with written elaboration (approx. 8 pages), weighted 1:1 or c) written examination (approx. 60 minutes) Language of assessment: Usually German. However, the module lecturer(s) or thesis supervisor(s) and examination candidate(s) can also agree upon another language.
Allocation of places
Number of places: maximum 20. Places will be allocated by lot.

Contents
Principles and theories of intercultural competence, acquisition of basic terms, intercultural communication and conflicts (in theory and practice), intercultural competence training, multifactorial backgrounds of "migration-induced behavioural abnormalities", prevention and intervention measures against racism and xenophobia
Intended learning outcomes
The students have basic knowledge of intercultural action and can independently apply theoretical principles of multicultural work in a reflected manner. In doing so, the students develop awareness of the effects of social changes and framework conditions on migrants and of interpersonal relationships and professional work in heterogeneous, intercultural fields of action.

We discuss early theoretical concepts and their development or modification (e.g. Georgens/Deinhardt) in the context of current theories (e.g. WHO, inclusion) as well as their effects on scientific research. We examine society's attitude towards disabilities and the development of individual and social identity in the context of disabilities (possibly in the context of specific types of disability). Furthermore, we talk about possibilities of social empathy and ways of improvement as well as aspects of attitude change.
Intended learning outcomes
Advanced knowledge of specific theoretical concepts. Reflection competence in the context of disabilities and society. Increasing problem awareness in the context of disabilities (possibly with a specific focus).
