Thesis (10 ECTS credits)

Preparation of a written Hausarbeit (thesis) in accordance with the provisions of Section 29 LPO I (examination regulations for teaching-degree programmes) is a prerequisite for teaching degree students to be admitted to the Erste Staatsprüfung (First State Examination). In accordance with the provisions of Section 29 LPO I, students studying for a teaching degree Sonderpädagogik may write this thesis in the subject they selected as sonderpädagogische Fachrichtung (special education specialization). Pursuant to Section 29 Subsection 1 Sentence 2 LPO I, students may also choose to write an interdisciplinary thesis.

| The module addresses current developments and challenges in intellectual and developmental disabilities regarding ethical, anthropological, teleological, and methodological questions. | | | |
| Intended learning outcomes | | | |
| The students will acquire basic knowledge in the fields of pedagogy, didactics and psychology in special needs education for children with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Thereby, they will gain competencies to evaluate critically developments in curative education and society and challenges in education, pedagogy, support, therapy and assistance of children, adolescents and adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities. They will learn to discuss relevant issues both in writing and orally. | | | |

| Specific syndroms in the context of intellectual and developmental disabilities, especially genetic syndroms Educational Interventions based on the psychology Diagnostic instruments, especially intelligence assessment, assessment of social adaptive behavior and other significant function areas | | |
| The students have basic knowledge about specific behaviors of people with intellectual and developmental disability, especially in the context of genetic syndroms. They have basic knowledge about specialized educational interventions how to plan and implement them. They also know something about the limitations of interventions by people with intellectual and developmental disabilities. They know several diagnostic instruments, standardized tests and other assessment instruments, especially the theoretical background, their quality and the application, analysis and interpretation. They know the basics for an educational expert's report. | | |

| Basic didactic concepts and derivations, regarding pupils with intellectual disabilities. General didactic theories and their transfer to special educational needs. Selected concepts and methods for teaching in the field of intellectual disabilities. Thereby, we also reflect upon for pupils with profound and multiple learning disabilities. | | |
| The students elaborate basic knowledge from previous, general courses. They gain insights into special educational needs by expanding their basic knowledge, interpreting special demands, and deriving conclusions for teaching pupils with intellectual disabilities. By reflecting upon teaching and educating people with profound and multiple learning disabilities, the students develop a clear position on how to shape education for these pupils. | | |

| Principles of inclusive pedagogy and didactics for learning in heterogeneous groups; implementation in school (including preschool); subject-didactic insights into learning areas relevant to special education; analysis and structuring of teaching material; combination of theoretical considerations and practical exercises; different forms of open learning for individualised and differentiated learning. | | | |
| The students know different approaches to group learning for disabled and non-disabled children and youth´s and are able to assess and explain the advantages and disadvantages. The students know strategies and materials for individualised and differentiated teaching. They are able to analyse and organise school and pre-school learning areas. They know organisation forms and pedagogical implications for learning in heterogeneous groups. The students are able to organise work groups. They are able to work in teams, share responsibilities and discuss the presentation of results. The students can justify pedagogical decisions referring to theory. They are able to utilize scientific knowledge for school processes, reflect upon material use in school and design their own learning materials. | | | |

| Understanding, role and tasks of science/scientific work in the field of education for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities, principles of a humanistic-hermeneutic approach, methodological standards (of quantitative and especially qualitative research methods). Criteria and standards of scientific work (Bachelor's thesis); conceptualising and carrying out or taking part in research projects in preparation for the thesis. | | | |
| The students have basic knowledge of scientific work in the field of education for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities and are able to work in accordance with and critically evaluate methodological standards and requirements. They are able to plan and critically evaluate small research projects in the field of education for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities in a largely autonomous manner. Furthermore, they can present these projects in the seminar. | | | |

| Theory-based planning of lessons; problems regarding school law and practice; institutional questions, ways of connecting theory with practice, questions of applying general and subject didactics. Communication and interaction as basis of pedagogical action; personality and tasks of teachers; types of interventions supporting verbal communication, such as teacher's language, questioning- and impulse techniques as well as modelling of pupils' utterances. | | | |
| The students systematically utilize and reflect upon theoretical knowledge from previous courses. Furthermore, they expand their practical competencies by reflecting, analysing, and evaluating their personal experiences. Through the internship and accompanying counselling, the students improve their self-competencies by questioning their personal suitability for the chosen profession. In addition, they get aware of further qualifications and personal traits of Special Education teachers. They advance their methodological competencies by practising and scientifically reflecting their skills. The students understand the relevance of language and communication in pedagogy. Through the internship, they gather experiences regarding the verbal presentation of lessons as well as their professional role. By discussing theoretical and practical connections, they deduct characteristics of an appropriate teacher language. Dealing with selected ways of verbal intervention, the students gather information about specific and non-specific ways to support language proficiency | | | |

| Contents | | | |
| Principles and theories of intercultural competence, acquisition of basic terms, intercultural communication and conflicts (in theory and practice), intercultural competence training, multifactorial backgrounds of "migration-induced behavioural abnormalities", prevention and intervention measures against racism and xenophobia. | | | |
| The students have basic knowledge of intercultural action and can independently apply theoretical principles of multicultural work in a reflected manner. In doing so, the students develop awareness of the effects of social changes and framework conditions on migrants and of interpersonal relationships and professional work in heterogeneous, intercultural fields of action. | | | |

| Special Education as an academic discipline; subject and purpose of science and scientificity; theory and theory building; scientific methods and systems; central and selected scientific-theoretical theories and methods of knowledge acquisition (especially: empirical-analytical approach, critical rationalism, phenomenology, hermeneutics, critical theory, constructivism and systems theory) as well as basics, methodology and principles of scientific work in research and practice -- also based on specific problems and topics of special educational theory, empirical research and practice. | | |
| Intended learning outcomes | | |
| Students are able to examine special educational problems in view of different scientific positions and perspectives (professional and methodological competence). They have advanced their basic knowledge of scientific theory on their own or in small groups (social, methodological and professional competence). By applying different learning techniques, the students extend their knowledge of scientific theory and learn to conduct systematic and methodological research; they are able to independently conduct and evaluate small scientific projects (methodological, social and self-competence). | | |
